Plowmen Working Second Round of World Contest

PEEBLES (P)—The world's plowing matches went into the last half today with some of the contestants turning up as much pessimism as soil.

Optimism was rare. Too dry, too moist, too little time, too hot. The complaints started as soon as the plowmen completed their opening rounds Thursday on half-acre plots of stubble land.

For today's half-acre sod plowing, the competitors from 14 nations have three hours. But the time limit on the stubble is only two and a half hours.

"That's just too short," said 29-year-old John Mason of Derbyshire, England, one of the two British entrants. "I had a difficult time with my finishing furrows because I had no time to stop and measure the width left as I approached them."

And, added Mason, "that sun! I never sweated so much in my life."

W. LAWRENCE McMillan, 29, of Dundonald, in Northern Ireland, was another who thought the time too limited.

"You had three hours for stubble last year," he said. "This speed is spoiling the contest and lowering the standard of plowing."

Mason, McMillan and several other European competitors agreed that the soil is too dry.

Arne Braut, 22, of Horpestad, Norway, said the dryness made it hard for his plows to cover the remnants of old crops, one of the important judging points in the event.

"It's not fair to bring people of European nations to a contest in America and not water the ground when the soil is too hard," he declared. "When Sweden had the contest, it spent thousands of dollars to water the ground before the plowing."

Braut finished his plot with a half hour to spare Thursday but he said the time limit made him nervous anyway.

Another of the proponents of moist soil was William De Lint, 27, of Zevenberche, Holland. "My plot was sticky in places and the soil kept building up on the plows. A little more moisture would have made it slide off easily."

On the other hand, American Lawrence Goettmoe, of Celina, Ohio, wasn't sure but what the land "could have been a little drier for good plowing."

"GENERALLY, though, I guess I consider this soil in pretty good shape for fall plowing," he conceded.

Torbjorn Ellele, manager of the Norwegian team, said he believed none of the many complaints should be taken too seriously.

"You see," he said, "everyone would like conditions just like he has at home. Most Americans work in dry soil, most Europeans work in moist soil."

"These complaints, they are just like you hear in any kind of contest. Everyone wants to make his excuse ahead of time."

Nationalists Report Fight with Red Ships

TAIPEI, Formosa (P)—Nationalist and Communist warships battled Thursday night near the offshore island of Matsu, the Defense Ministry reported today.

It said three Communist warships were engaged and routed and that one of them was possibly sunk. The size of the ships involved was not given nor the number of Nationalist ships engaged.

Soviet Press Claims U.S. Economy on Rocks

MOSCOW (P)—Soviet newspapers published a Tass roundup from New York today which said the United States is on the verge of a grave economic collapse.

The Soviet news agency dispatch said there was "nervous apprehension" about soft spots apparent in the American economy.

Ohio Bell Due To Present Another Contract Proposal

CLEVELAND (P)—Negotiations to end a five-day-old telephone strike were delayed today as the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. asked more time to prepare a new contract proposal.

U. S. Military Power Shows Gain on Reds

Defense Chief Claims Manpower Cutbacks Fail To Harm Nation

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says he believes "we have gained on the Russians in relative military strength since 1953," despite manpower cuts and other Pentagon economy moves.

Claiming gains from better weapons, including missiles, Wilson hinted at still further manpower cutbacks as he discussed at a news conference a 100,000-man force reduction ordered Thursday.

That cut, to be effective by next June 30, will reduce the nation's military strength to 2,600,000 men.

He called it a fair assumption still further cuts may be made in connection with the next fiscal budget which goes to Congress in January.

Wilson also disclosed plans to pare the Defense Department's civilian payroll by 35,000 to 40,000 workers. This would be in addition to a 53,000-worker reduction announced earlier. There was no estimate of the saving from this move.

THE DEFENSE chief said the manpower cutbacks were approved by President Eisenhower. At the same news conference, Wilson discounted the importance of a Russian claim last month that Soviet weapons had made a successful test of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Wilson said that what the Russian report said "is probably actually true." But he contended the Soviets made only a general statement that they had developed a missile, that it had performed as it was intended to do, and that the test results indicated such projectiles could be directed toward any part of the world.

The secretary added that "the United States could have said the same thing months ago."

Wilson said that in his opinion the Russians don't have an operational missile. But he said they will have one someday "and so will we."

Later, William M. Holaday, Wilson's special assistant on long-range weapons development, said in a speech to a scientific meeting that the United States "has sent a test ballistic missile thousands of miles."

A defense official said Holaday referred to a successful launching last November of a modified Army Jupiter, an intermediate range missile designed to travel 1,500 miles. On this test, the Jupiter went 3,000 miles.

In explaining the reasons behind the new manpower trimming, Wilson said, "We are so close to the debt limit that the Treasury can't even borrow the money." The legal ceiling on the national debt is $275 billion.

The 2,600,000-man force now scheduled for next June 30 would compare with American troop strength of 1,460,000 when the Korean War broke out in June 1950. I would be about a million below the peak during that conflict.

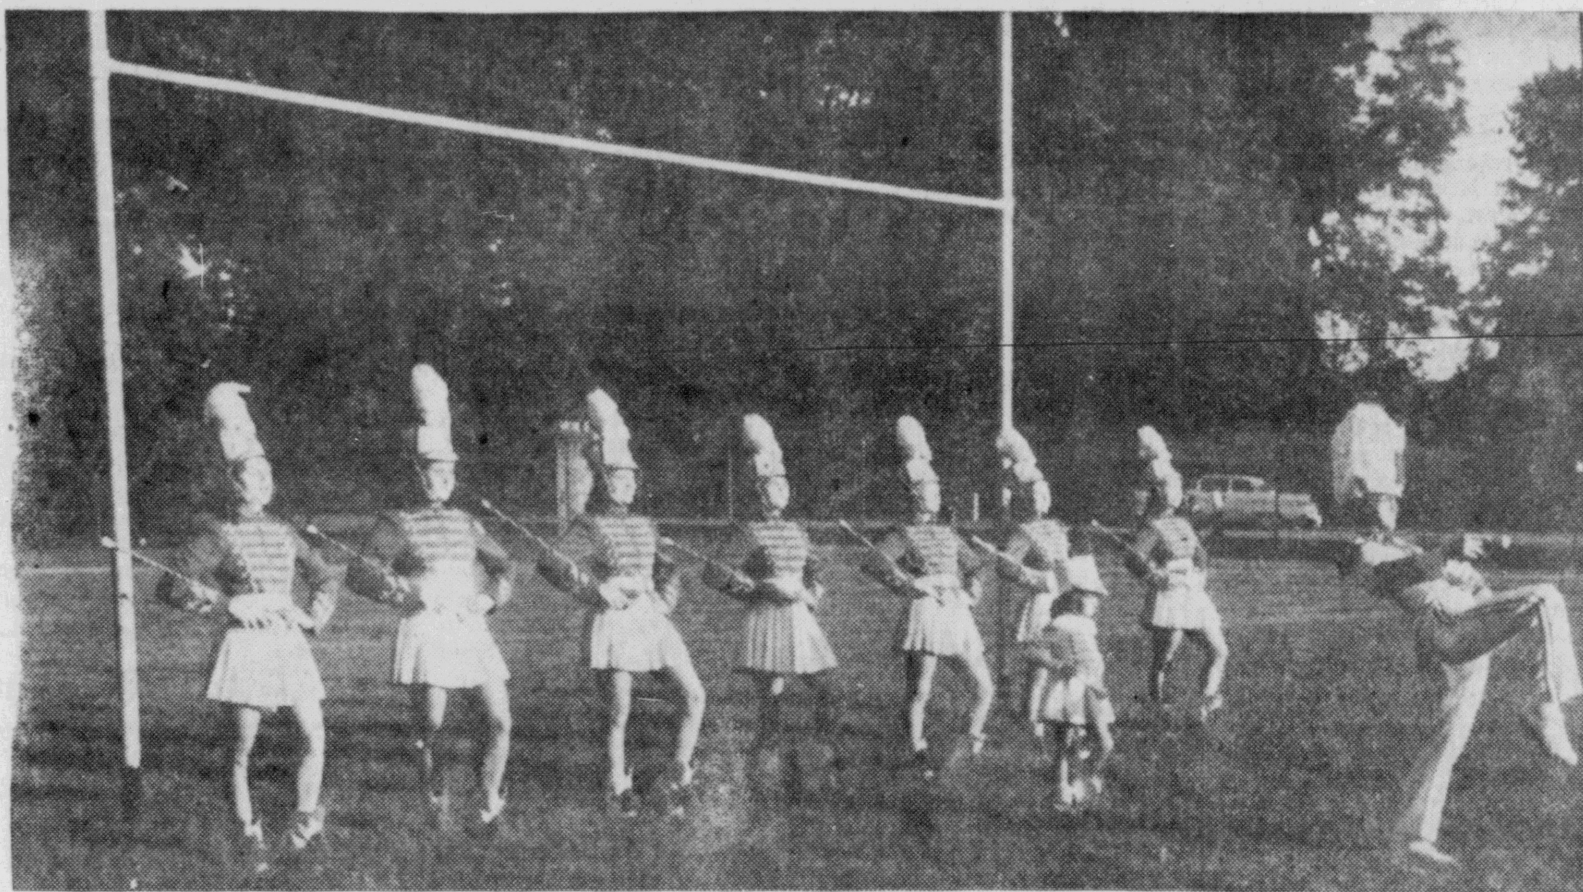

New York, where the CWA and Western Electric Co. have been negotiating a contract for 23,800 telephone equipment installers, an agreement ending that strike was reached early today.

Settlement of the issues in the Western Electric walkout removed a barrier to return of Ohio Bell workers. The start of the two strikes was timed by the union to coincide, and CWA unionists working for Ohio Bell would not have crossed Western Electric employees' picket lines around exchanges in the major Ohio cities if an Ohio agreement had been reached first.

The Western Electric agreement came about two hours after Ohio Bell and CWA representatives recessed their night session with a federal mediator.

THEY MET FOR nearly an hour from 7:30 p.m., recessed, then got together again for a half hour to 11:15 before quitting for the night. Both sides said no progress was made at the sessions. As the negotiations now stand, Ohio Bell has offered a one-year contract providing pay hikes of $2 to $4.50 a week, or a 15-month (Please Turn to Page Twelve)

Lions' Home Opener Tonight

STRUTTING SUPPORT for the Washington C. H. High School football team will come from the seven majorettes, the mascot and the drum major. Majorettes, (left to right), are Kathie Wright, Judy Lundberg, Ann Johnson, Marta Mickie, Joan Knisley, Paulette Pennington and Jan Ellis. Mascot is six-year-old JoEllen (JoJo) Lytton. Drum major is Randy Mann.

The 1957 home football season will be inaugurated under the lights at Gardner Park Friday night when the Lions of Washington C. H. High School and the Buccaneers of Xenia Central clash against a colorful backdrop of music by two quick-stepping bands led by high-stepping majorettes. It will be more than a football game; it will be a spectacle which could be marred only by the weather.

Before the two teams take the field, the combined bands will present a pre-game show, which will include the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" under the direction of Robert Downs, Xenia band director and the introduction of the WHS drum major, seven majorettes and mascot majorette.

During the intermission, the two bands will divide the time to offer their individual brands of pageantry.

THE THEME of the Washington C. H. band show is "Fall." It will be carried out with formations of an overcoat, leaves falling from a tree, the harvest moon coming up over a hill, a school sock hop and, of course, a football game. Music to be played for these formations includes "September Song," "But- ton Up Your Overcoat," "Shine on Harvest Moon," "Singing the Blues" and the WHS football song and alma mater.

Bandmaster Robert Neumann explained that this is the same show that had been prepared for the game a week ago at Linden-McKinley High School in Columbus, but was not given there because of rain during the day. There was no indication up to 1 p. m. Friday that the band show would be postponed unless there is a heavy downpour.

THIS WILL be the second public appearance of the season for the two football teams, however. And, both lost their openers—the Lions to Linden's Panthers, 20 to 0, and the Buccaneers to the boys from Hamilton Catholic, 19 to 13.

The game stacks up as one of experience vs. inexperience, with eight seniors among the 11 Buccaneer starters and half that many seniors on the probable Lions starting team.

The Lions will be outweighed an average of 9 pounds per player on the line, but the backfields just about balance with an average of around 159 pounds. The Xenia line averages around 182 pounds and the WHS line 173 pounds.

Scouts have reported that the Xenia backfield is fast and tricky and that the team's offense includes an effective aerial attack.

COACH Fred Domenico of the Lions said earlier in the week that question marks hung over two or three positions, but after Wednesday's practice some of the furrows were fading from his brow. But, he still did not commit himself on the lineup for the home opener. Rather, he gave the impression that a good many of the Lions would see action before the game is over.

Inexperience and jitters were held largely responsible for the Lions' loss a Linden-McKinley last Friday because the Panthers scored all 20 points during the first half. While the Lions held the Panthers scoreless in the second half of that game, they were unable to get their offense clocking sufficiently to erase the zero from the score.

But, after a shuffling of players and stepped up drill on offense this week, Coach Domenico said he hoped that the offense had been smoothed out.

While Xenia is in a different league, the school's are old sports rivals. For this reason—and the spectacle—a near-capacity crowd is expected.

Big Missile Fired by U. S.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (P)—A big, gleaming, cigar-shaped missile, believed to be the Air Force Thor, was blasted into the sky from the missile test center here at 9:25 a. m. today.

The missile rose straight up for perhaps 15 to 20 miles, then curved to the eastward and kept climbing on an arc as it zoomed into the blue.

Rising with a flaming tail, the missile discharged white smoke at high altitude like a skyrocketing plane. Then it turned on a more curving course and climbed away leaving a streak of gray.

It sounded in the air like a squadron of bombers passing overhead. It was perhaps half a minute after it left the launching pad before the sound could be heard.

The sky was crystal clear and the missile could be seen for at least two minutes after it left the ground.

If it was the Thor, it was the fourth and only successful launching of this missile to date.

THE FIRST two were of doubtful success and the third launching Aug. 30 traveled an estimated 10 to 17 miles before a booster apparently threw it off course.

Asst. Defense Secretary Donald Quarles was at the base and probably watched the firing. His report to Defense Secretary Wilson may have an effect on the decision as to whether the Air Force Thor, the Army Jupiter or a combination of both goes into production.

Both the Thor and the Jupiter have ranges of 1,500 miles and are rated as intermediate range missiles.

There still is speculation that an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile may be fired from here in a day or so.

Terrific Downpour Hits North Ohio

COLUMBUS (P)—Terrific downpours of rain swept a narrow band of northern Ohio Thursday night and early today, dumping more than four inches of water in some areas.

The Columbus Weather Bureau said the band of heavy rain, apparently only 40 miles wide, extended from west to east across the entire state, starting at St. Marys.

Upper Sandusky reported 3.1 inches of rain, official measurement, and had unofficial reports of up to 4½ inches. Findlay reported 2.18 inches, Kenton 2.25, Bucyrus 2.97, Tiffin 1.96, Gallon 4.2, Mansfield 3.98.

Reds Blame U. S. For Syria Tension

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko blamed the West today for the tense Middle East situation. He declared Russia "cannot watch impassively over a situation that bears upon its own security."

The Soviet leader struck back vigorously at charges made by Secretary of State Dulles that the Kremlin was endangering peace in the Middle East by sending arms to Arab countries.

Addressing the 82-nation General Assembly, Gromyko said:

"The Soviet Union cannot place itself in the position of an impassive observer while the Near and Middle East—an area close to the frontiers of the Soviet Union, is being turned into a permanent hotbed of military conflicts."

He accused the West of inventing charges against the Soviet Union to hide its own intentions to dominate the Middle East.

He placed the blame specifically on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and asserted that "rude political and economic pressure is being exerted" against Syria.

"LATELY," he said, "she is being more and more frequently threatened with open military intervention."

The reason for this, Gromyko continued, "is that the people of Syria and their government refuse to submit to foreign dictation or to allow their country to be drawn into aggressive blocs."

He declared the U. S. position on the Syrian problem is ample proof "that the Eisenhower doctrine is completely hostile to the interests of the people of the Near East."

Dulles told the Assembly Thursday that Turkey is facing a "growing military danger" as a result of Soviet arms massed along the Syrian border and also along the Soviet-Turkish frontier.

Informed sources say the British government is convinced Syria is so completely under Russian domination that it may be too late to save the Arab state.

The informants said the British feel Egypt is not quite so far gone, but also is in Russia's grip.

Britain welcomed Dulles' warning to the Assembly, these sources said, as a step toward sealing off Soviet-dominated areas and preventing their spread.

XX Army Corps Being Activated

COLUMBUS (P)—The 20th (XX) Corps, a consolidation of three military districts, will be formally activated today when Maj. Gen. Martin J. Morin, corps commander, accepts the colors at a ceremony at Fort Hayes.

The activation is part of the Department of the Army's plan to consolidate eight military districts into two corps areas, the XX Corps, which includes the military districts of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia with headquarters at Fort Hayes, and the 21st (XXI) Corps. The CCI Corps, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Pa., will include Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia.

Saud Said Prepared To Help Defend Syria

CAIRO (P)—The newspaper Al Akhbar today quoted King Saud of Saudi Arabia as saying "I and my sons are prepared to shed the last drop of our blood to defend Syria."

In a dispatch from its Geneva correspondent, the newspaper said the monarch made the statement in Baden-Baden, Germany, before his departure for Switzerland Thursday.

Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria concluded a military defense pact in 1956.

Arkansas Aides Say U. S. Lacks Jurisdiction

Governor's Motion Against Judge Fails To Gain Approval

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (P)—Attorneys for Gov. Orval Faubus walked out on the injunction hearing against the governor today after declaring they do not recognize the jurisdiction of the U. S. District Court.

Their walkout came immediately after U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies rejected their motion to dismiss the government's petition for injunctions commanding Faubus to stop interfering with the integration of Little Rock Central High School.

William J. Smith, Faubus' personal attorney, said "As far as we are concerned we're through."

With that, Smith and the governor's other attorneys, Tom Harper and Kay Matthews left the courtroom.

Despite this dramatic showing, Judge Davis called for first testimony in the hearing. Witnesses were summoned to the stand.

Faubus, who had asked the judge to step down because of alleged "bias and prejudice" was not in the court room as the proceeding began.

Davies said the Faubus motion was "not legally sufficient" and not timely.

These were the two principal arguments brought against the motion by government attorneys. Donald C. MacGuineas, arguing against Faubus' motion, spoke for 18 minutes and Kay Matthews, one of the three attorneys representing the governor, spoke for seven minutes in response.

Matthews challenged the government's right to file a counter motion to strike down the governor's claim that Davies was biased and prejudiced.

THIS CLEARED the way for the presentation of evidence in the story that has gripped the nation for three weeks.

Like Faubus, Arkansas Adj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger also was absent from the courtroom.

It was Clinger who at Faubus' orders deployed National Guardsmen around the high school to prevent Negroes from entering, a move the governor said was taken to prevent violence.

Clinger is a co-defendant with Faubus in the injunction suit.

Faubus was not strictly required under a summons to appear in person today. The U. S. District Court clerk said he could be represented by counsel.

Clerical Error Cited in Estate

CINCINNATI (P)—The late Phil E. Ziegler, former secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, left an estate of $71,359, but an error swelled it to $1,340,490.

That's the report by union officials who said failure to list the Brotherhood name on a safety deposit box that Ziegler used led to erroneous inclusion of $1,269,131 in union bonds in his estate.

George M. Gibbons, Ziegler's successor, said Thursday that the U. S. Treasury notes, registered in the name of the union, were turned over to its officers shortly after Ziegler died April 20.

Judge Studies Teamster Poll

Big Union Is Ordered To Hearing Sept. 27

WASHINGTON (P)—Federal Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today ordered James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters Union bosses to show cause here Sept. 27 why the coming Teamsters convention should not be barred from electing officers.

The order was secured by an attorney who two years ago stalled Hoffa's attempt to swing a New York City Teamsters election.

The lawyer, Godfrey Schmidt, planned to seek an immediate restraining order in Federal District Court to block election of new officers at the Teamsters International convention opening Sept. 30 in Miami Beach, Fla.

On behalf of 13 union members from the New York City area, Schmidt filed suit Thursday contending that 80 per cent of the nearly 2,000 delegates to the convention were hand-picked to vote for Hoffa. The way they were chosen, the suit alleged, violates the union's constitution.

Schmidt wants a court restraining order to delay the union election until new delegates can be chosen democratically.

"This is strictly a rank-and-file move to reclaim for the union's members a little of the industrial democracy they've lost on the way," Schmidt said.

HE IS THE MAN who represented Martin T. Lacey in a successful 1956 federal court challenge of a union election. In that case, the court threw out votes of a set of phantom Teamsters locals that would have upset Lacey's reelection as president of the New York area Teamsters council.

Hoffa, now the giant union's Midwest boss, supported John O'Rourke against Lacey for the New York post. It was testified in Senate racket hearings that Hoffa helped set up the fictitious locals to swing the vote to O'Rourke. The latter invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to testify.

Pickerington Bank Robbed of $3430 By Youthful Thug

COLUMBUS (P)—A quiet young gunman held up the Pickerington Bank Co. at nearby Pickerington today and escaped with $3,430.

Witnesses said the holdup man wore dark glasses and an ivy league cap. Only four of the seven persons in the banking room were aware that the robbery was in progress.

Kenneth Weaver, 30, a teller, told police the gunman forced him to put the money in one of three bags he carried.

Police and sheriff's deputies throughout Central Ohio were alerted to set up road blocks in an effort to capture the robber.

The robber fled the scene in an auto with license tags which had been issued in Columbus. He left after trying unsuccessfully three times to get the teller to open the vault. Weaver told him he didn't know the combination.

Cashier Aubrey W. Prewitt told police: "He wasn't in the bank two minutes."

It was the second holdup of the bank in three years. On Oct. 1, 1954, bandits obtained $17,720.

OSLO, Norway (P)—A medical bulletin said today the condition of dangerously ill King Haakon VII was unchanged, but that he had spent a quiet night. The 85-year-old king is suffering from a circulatory ailment.

Bloomington PTO Makes Halloween Carnival Plans

Plans for the annual Halloween Carnival Oct. 26 were outlined by the Bloomington Parent-Teacher Organization at its first meeting of the new school year Thursday night.

The new officers were in their places at this meeting for the first time when the business session was called to order by the president, Jess Schlichter. Other officers are Charles Andrews, vice president; Mrs. Roy Hagler, secretary; Mrs. J. Roush Burton, treasurer, and Mrs. Elmer Haymaker, news reporter.

During the business session, the PTO voted to transfer some of the playground equipment from the Presbyterian Church ground to the Marion School, where the Bloomington third graders now attend classes, and some to the Bloomington school. The equipment was bought by the PTO last year and set up at the church when overflow classes were held there.

The regular meeting night was changed from the third Thursday to the first Wednesday of each month. Principal Gilbert H. Biddle introduced the teachers and told the PTO members two new courses have been added to the high school curriculum this year. They are driver training and general mathematics.

THE COMMITTEE that will plan the carnival is made up of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Noble, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haymaker; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCoy; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Shelton; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stoops; Mr. and Mrs. Adam Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Bloomer; Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon; Mr. and Mrs. James Hagler; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hagler; Mrs. Charles Andrews.

One of the new features of the carnival will be a one-act play by members of the PTO.

Biddle was in charge of the entertainment program which followed the business meeting. It included a vocal solo by Rebecca Haiscock; a dance by Roseann Knisley; a talk on pork by Gloria Cleland, queen of the Ohio Pork Producers Assn. picnic here last Saturday; two numbers by the Craig Instrumental Trio, and a dance by Ann Evans. All of the entertainers are students.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jess Schlichter and Mrs. Darrell Coil.

NEXT MONTH'S committees are entertainment, Mrs. Charles Cunningham and Mrs. Donald Mossbarger and refreshments, John Cannon, Adam Davis, Rex Bloomer and Lewis Redd.

Room mothers also were named at the meeting. They are, first grade, Mrs. James Hagler, Mrs. Ronald Cooper, Mrs. J. Willis Dick, Mrs. Adam Davis, Mrs. Ralph Strahler; second grade, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Roy Hagler, Mrs. Charles McCoy, Mrs. Robert Browning, Mrs. Clarence Runnels, Mrs. Joe Fortier; (third grade at Marion School); fourth grade, Mrs. Jess Schlichter, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Mrs. Lewis Redd, Mrs. Jack Sollars, Mrs. Donald Walton, Mrs. Dennis Welsh, Mrs. Robert Dunn, Mrs. Raymond Grim, Mrs. Rex Bloomer and Mrs. Charles Andrews (two fourth grade rooms); fifth grade, Mrs. Pearl Rhoads, Mrs. Vernol Huff, Mrs. Donald Mossbarger, Mrs. Mary Vincent, Mrs. Carl Scott and Mrs. John Cannon.

Deaths, Funerals

TOMMY HILL—Services for Tommy Hill, 8 months, who died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hill Tuesday, were held in the Church of Christ in Christian Union in Jeffersonville at 10 a. m. Thursday by the Rev. Raymond Orner, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Kenneth Bonecutter and Mrs. Kenneth Sibold sang the hymn, "The Jewel." Burial was in the Koonz Cemetery near Milledgeville.

MRS. TOM HILLERY—Services for Mrs. Myrtle G. Hillery, wife of Tom Hillery were held at 10 a. m. Thursday in the Parrott Funeral home by the Rev. Harold B. Twining pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Palbearers for the burial in the Washington C. H. Cemetery were Dave Hillery, Ben Montgomery, Herman Hillery, Francis C. Cupp, Harold Grant and Charles Osborne.

LOS ANGELES—Deliberations of the jury in the Confidential magazine criminal libel conspiracy case stretched into their fourth day today.

There was no indication Thursday from the jury room that a verdict was near.

Two Are Fined On DWI Counts

Both Draw 3-Day Jail Sentences

Two drunken driving charges topped the traffic docket in Municipal Court Friday.

John Howard Robinson, 44, of Versailles, Ky., and William Delbert Smith, Jr., 28, of Leesburg, were fined $200 each, sentenced to three days in jail, and had their Ohio driving rights suspended for a year.

Smith, who pleaded guilty, was arrested about 11:15 p. m. Wednesday on Route 62 south. Robinson, who entered a plea of not guilty and was found guilty by the court, was arrested at 4:20 p. m. Wednesday on W. Court St.

FINED $50 and costs for driving without an operator's license was McGinnis Kuhn, 50, of Crooksville, who pleaded guilty.

Pleading not guilty to running a red light was Hugh H. Schwartz, 63, of Route 22, near New Holland, who was found guilty and fined $5 and costs, with the fine suspended.

Forfeiting bond for non-appearance on traffic charges were: Charles Amann, 57, Cincinnati, speeding, $20;

J. Waddell Watson, 38, Pontiac, Mich., running a red light, $15;

Alfred Sneed, 27, Athens, Tenn., making excessive noise with a truck, $20.

Milk Dispute Spreads to 2 New Cities

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — A milk producers strike that began in the Athens, Ohio, area earlier this week spread to Huntington, W. Va., and Ashland, Ky., Thursday night. Milk deliveries were continuing.

The Huntington Interstate Milk Producers Assn. said it had set up picket lines at four distribution plants in the two cities. Pickets were removed later from one of the plants, however, on the intervention of an unidentified third party although no agreement had been reached.

It was reported, in addition, that pickets were being withdrawn in all of the area except for one plant here.

The association is asking an average price of $5.20 per hundredweight in the 11-month period beginning Oct. 1. This is 26 cents above the present year-around average and 27 cents below the peak price paid in 1953.

Paul S. Oshel, manager of the association, said 725 farmer producers have withdrawn milk from the Huntington-Ashland market.

2 Ohio Airmen Held In Korea Shooting

SEOUL —The U.N. Command today identified two U. S. airmen involved in the wounding of two Korean girls at Kunsan Sunday.

They are Airman 3c Carroll B. Taylor, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Airman Basic Edward Young, Route 1, Chilo, Ohio.

Both are being held pending outcome of an investigation, a command spokesman said. The Air Force said the men were guarding a bomb dump and fired into the air when a group of Koreans disregarded orders to halt.

The South Korean government will protest the shooting.

Montana City Gets 14-Inch Snowfall

HELENA, Mont. — Subfreezing temperatures gripped parts of the Rocky Mountain area today in the wake of one of the heaviest snowfalls in Helena's history.

Nearly 14 inches fell during a 24-hour period ended Thursday. A transient laborer was frozen to death as the blizzard snarled traffic and disrupted communications.

The body of Stephan Hat, about 50, Crawford, Neb., was found Thursday at Spokane, Wash., in an open railroad car that had crossed the Montana Rockies.

Frost warnings were out as far south as Denver.

Teenage Golf Stars 'Wow' Ike on Links

NEWPORT, R. I. —Two teenage Rhode Island golfers today outdove a chagrined President Eisenhower by more than 50 yards off the first tee.

"Wowie," the President exclaimed at the start of the match at the Newport Country Club. "It's going to be bad for us."

On the first nine holes Eisenhower and the club pro, Norman Palmer were matched against 17-year-old Robert Fitta, winner of the Rhode Island Junior Chamber of Commerce Tournament this year, and Gary Letiecq, 15, the runnerup.

Fitta and Letiecq, and two other finalists in that tournament, Robert Dalessio, 17, and William McGuinness, 17, had hoped to caddy for the President.

Eisenhower thanked them for the offer, but suggested that instead they play a round with him. The President arranged to play the second nine holes today with Dalessio and McGuinness.

Eisenhower was first off the tee and he belted his first two drives into a sand trap less than 200 yards off the fairway.

He then tried a third, but it also was short.

Palmer whacked one long and far down the middle, then young Letiecq stepped up. His drive traveled about 240 yards down the middle. Fitta stepped up to the tee and also got off a good drive of close to 250 yards.

Judge Collapses At Plow Contest

PEEBLES — Common Pleas Judge J. W. Lang Jr. of Adams County collapsed today while making an announcement on the speakers' platform at the World's Plowing contest.

Judge Lang, 51, was introducing a program by the Army band. He was taken to the Adams County Hospital in West Union and contest officials here said he apparently had suffered a heart attack.

The judge is program chairman for the plowing contest.

Anti-Communists Set Up Government in San Marino

SAN MARINO —Anti-Communists in this tiny republic today set up their own government to oppose the Communist regime that has ruled since the end of World War II.

The post card country was dividing into two camps in a first-class political battle that erupted into fistcuffs Thursday night.

Today things were quiet. The Communist regime held the government palace. The Communists dissolved Parliament, where they had lost their majority because of defections, and called for new elections Nov. 3.

The non-Communists planned to move their government into another building. They said they would not agree to new elections and would fight the dissolving of Parliament.

Prof. Federico Bigi, a pudgy 37-year-old lawyer and school teacher, seemed to be the head of the non-Communists, who created a five-man executive committee to rule San Marino.

"But I cannot tell you who the five are," he told newsmen. "Our silence is for security. They might be arrested by the Communist government on charges of trying to overthrow the government."

While Bigi was meeting newsmen at the headquarters of the local Christian Democrat party, the Communist government maintained silence within the walls of the guarded government palace.

Outside the palace was a guard of 15 soldiers and militiamen.

Here is a 38-square mile country, perched on a hill overlooking the north Adriatic and surrounded by Italian territory.

In the crisis a 50-man army, supporting the government, has called up the reserves—100 additional soldiers.

In Bigi's group are Christian Democrats, independents and dissident Socialists.

Fisticuffs erupted when soldiers turned anti-Communist members away from the Parliament building. The clashes in the village square were confined to blows from fists and feet. Witnesses said no one was injured seriously.

Lawyers Walk Out

Today's case is a test by the U. S. government over a state government's authority concerning integration in public schools.

It is a landmark case in the whole great struggle over civil rights.

In one sense, it is the federal government versus Faubus who on the night of Sept. 2, sent National Guardsmen to Central High School in Little Rock to turn away Negroes who tried to enroll.

But in a broader sense, the issue involves a story as old as the Republic itself—the line of demarcation between federal and state authority.

The issue is clear and simple. Did Faubus make illegal use of the National Guard? Did he violate the constitutional rights of the students?

Or did his mandate to maintain peace and order in the state give him the right to use the guardsmen on such a mission?

Technically, the lawsuit is over the government's petition for injunctions against Faubus, ordering him to stop interfering with the integration of the high school.

THE CORE of the case is the question: Was there genuine danger that violence would break out if the Negroes—10 students who had been screened and otherwise tested by the Little Rock Board of Education—enrolled in the high school and sat down in classrooms beside the white students?

Faubus insists that he received warnings, with detailed information, that there was danger.

The government, using FBI agents, is reported to have checked the points of this same information, and to have gathered other evidence. A 400-page FBI report is ready for use in court.

Judge Davies, a Fargo, N. D., is a sharp-eyed, watchful man, 5 feet 11 tall. He is a stern courtroom disciplinarian.

It is believed almost certain he will grant the injunction ordering Faubus to discontinue interfering with the integration of the high school.

The Arkansas Democrat said Faubus will then appeal to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals and will carry the fight on to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Newport, R. I., said he was "deeply disappointed" that no voluntary progress toward school integration was made at Little Rock this week.

Basic Industry Spokesmen Eye 1958 Situation

Business Condition Predictions Vary Widely, Survey Shows

By SAM DAVSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market may fidget while waiting to get a clearer view of what's ahead for business. But at least some spokesmen for basic industries are willing today to stick their necks out with predictions for the rest of this year and for next year.

The forecasts range from "1958 will be a 'rough year,' a period between peaks of growth of demand" to "the short range view for business is good; the mid-term view is better, and the long-term view is the best that any nation has ever been privileged to anticipate."

The spokesmen talking what's ahead for their industries are executive in steel, oil, chemicals, nonferrous metal, food, machine tools and farm equipment companies.

John L. McCaffrey, International Harvester chairman, sees continued improvement in his line in 1958, largely because "1958 cash farm income will probably be somewhat larger than in 1957."

He is one of the more optimistic of the farm equipment manufacturers who gathered in Chicago. Many of the others see next year's sales much like 1957. They look for better sales in the remaining months of this year, which they predict will top last year by from 5 to 15 per cent.

At a marketing conference today in New York, sponsored by the National Industrial Conference Board, other industry leaders are forecasting.

A Republic Steel vice president, Norman W. Foy, is the one with the "good, better, best" forecast for business in general. He sees a selling job ahead but looks for "a modest upturn in late 1957 and 1958."

The one who thinks 1958 will be a rough year in his industry is B. L. Ray, vice president of Esso Standard Oil. He notes that the annual rate of growth in domestic demand for oil was 6 per cent until 1955. But this year's final figure, he predicts, will be 3.2 per cent over last year, and next year will drop to a 2.1 per cent growth over this.

Looking farther ahead, Malcolm Murdock, vice president of Ethyl Corp., sees an average annual gain of 3.9 per cent in the 1959-61 period.

Charles H. Winship Jr., general sales manager for Phelps Dodge, sees plentiful supplies of copper, lead and zinc between now and 1960, but a better supply and demand balance and less feverish ups and downs in prices.

John O. Logan, an Olin Mathieson Chemical vice president, looks for a 5 per cent rise in total dollar sales of chemicals and allied products in 1958.

Paul Mayfield, Hercules Powder vice president, expects an average annual gain of 7 per cent by the chemical industry from 1958 through 1961.

C. M. Beach, Cincinnati milling and grinding machines vice president, thinks industry spending for capital equipment will stay high in the next 12 months. The machine tool industry's big bet, he says, is that about 70 per cent of the tools now in use are at least 10 years old and need replacing.

Hospital Board

but is becoming a normal practice. What would happen if a real disaster would strike, is not pleasant to contemplate. And while the room shortage is purposefully mentioned because it is something anyone can see, it is certainly only one of many needs that have become evident as we have progressed.

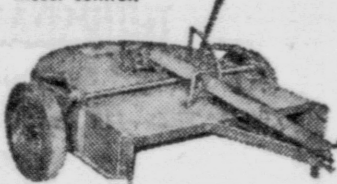

"At this time the addition of more rooms without other facilities to supplement them is not the answer. Practically every department is outgrown and needs to be expanded. To say that the proposed plan will take care of our needs for the next 10 years is little better than a guess. It appears obvious however, that between now and the time the proposed addition can be built and ready for occupancy there will be many times when the present facilities will be sorely taxed, perhaps beyond capacity."

"THERE IS no escaping the fact that the public acceptance and approval of our hospital by the people in outlying areas extending into neighboring counties, has made this expansion necessary somewhat sooner than might otherwise be the case. This very fact however, practically assures us that we will attract more specialists and extra services to our hospital than we otherwise would have had. This in turn should help even further to save our citizens the necessity of going to other city hospitals."

"We hear the question asked repeatedly 'What did we do before we had a hospital?' We believe the answer to this is that we depended on other hospitals, as many of these people now depend on ours. Thinking people, we believe, will see that there is no place to draw a line as to what person should enter our hospital and which ones should be refused admittance. Rather let us take satisfaction from the fact that our doors are closed to none."

"ALONG WITH the building program we are asking support for an operating levy. Various board members now serving or who have served since the hospital opened are rightly proud of the record they made in operating the hospital without the need of a special operating levy. For us to try to do this any longer, however, would be a seriously questionable procedure, a course which we believe is not in line with the proper management of your hospital.

Municipal League Takes Air Base Tour

"Most other county and municipal hospitals, not only in Ohio but in other states have such levies, some from the times they were opened for service. The reason for the need of this levy is not hard to determine when the facts are before you. In the first place the maintenance, upkeep and replacement of worn out and outmoded equipment, is a large factor.

It is especially true of hospital equipment that improvements and changes come rapidly and are expensive, yet they must be provided to keep step with progress and public demand.

"Increased costs of all services and supplies we buy is another factor, in this period of inflation. When the malfunctioning of a piece of important equipment can cost a life we believe that it is not the place to save a few dollars. We have been proud of the high class equipment and service afforded at our hospital and would like to promise the same high standards in the future."

"THE MEMBERS of the medical staff, the board of trustees and the administrator would welcome the opportunity to discuss with any person or group any phase of this program. We believe it to be in keeping with orderly growth of our community."

"In arriving at the decision to present this program to the voters at this time, we have been guided by the counsel of the advisory group which has met with us at the hospital several times."

"This group represents thinking men and women from all parts of the county. The board wishes to sincerely thank this group and invites it to join the other voters in Fayette County in giving its continued interest and support to our hospital."

By RON COFFMAN

Now that the back-to-school rush has somewhat subsided, life at WHS is a little less hectic for both teachers and students. The vocal music program, rather dormant for the last few years, seems to be coming alive under the guiding hand of its new director, Mr. Grover Baber. Vocal music organizations are: Junior High Girls Glee Club; Junior High Mixed Chorus; High School Choir; Mixed Ensemble, and the Male Chorus, a new organization. Mr. Baber expressed the feeling that there is a great deal of potential talent in these groups. An accomplished musician, himself, the new director sang the lead in many musicals at Ohio State where he was president of the men's glee club.

It will consist of a chapel assembly in the auditorium every other Monday and a short program over the PA system three times per week. The Hi-Y Club will sponsor these programs the next two weeks and other clubs will be invited to take the sponsorship for a period of two weeks each after that.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rockefeller Foundation says it spent $30,075,305 in 1956—a record amount in any single year since the foundation's inception in 1913.

Dean Rusk, president of the foundation, said Thursday income last year was $42,353,496. Last year's appropriation, he said, reflected a decision to use a portion of capital funds to support an expanded program in Latin America, Asia, the Middle East and Africa.

Since the foundation was established, Rusk said, appropriations total $565,456,662.

Airliner Pilot Dies, But Plane Lands OK

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A Northwest Airlines DC6B with 62 passengers aboard landed safely at Madison Thursday after the pilot died while the plane was in the air.

The airliner was en route from Minneapolis to Chicago when the plane commander, Capt. Alfred H. Lohmar, 51, was stricken, apparently by a heart attack.

First Officer Arthur J. Steadman Jr., 33, of Farmington, Minn., took over the big plane and brought it in to a safe landing.

Another Question Arousing Much Argument

A Washington C. H. business man was heard to remark recently that he was able to obtain more capable women to work in his place than men; he employs a number of each.

Maybe he is an exception but in further commenting on the subject he said that the man who persists in the belief that "woman's place is in the home," and preferably the kitchen, should look about more often to see what is going on outside the homes.

It is easy to arouse quite an argument on this subject. There are many who openly declare numerous women are doing work which a man should do, thus cutting down on the number of jobs available which many men, as heads of their families, could well handle. They contend that this is especially true when wives have small children who deserve more home attention.

At the same time many of both sexes insist that there is ample room for women in business positions; that they are just as capable and often more dependable on the average. This is questioned by many others.

A rather surprising development, according to information given out by the National Manpower Council, is the increasingly steady departure of women from the home to accept positions. The Council's study and survey of this situation reveals that:

"One - third of all women 14 years old and over are now in the labor force in any given month.

"More than two - fifths work in the course of a year—about 28,000,000 women.

"Women will account for at least half of the ten million persons expected to join the labor force between 1957 and 1958.

"One - fifth of the nation's $42,000,000,000 wage and salary income is earned by women.

"Three out of every ten married women are working, as are two out of every five mothers with school - age children.

"Six out of every ten working women are married, as are two out of every five mothers with school - age children.

"Since 1950 the largest source of new workers in the labor force has been women in their middle and later years."

If we may be forgiven for scrambling metaphors, we'd say: "The hand that rocks the cradle has a great many irons in the fire."

However, it could be mentioned, that today's inflationary costs of living has created a situation where many women have to work to help keep up a family's normal standard of living.

Scrapper and Felicia at Peace

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (P)—Everyone has his favorite cat-and-dog story, and mine is the tale of Felicia and Scrapper.

Scrapper was a friendly but tough airedale who bossed everything on four feet in the suburban neighborhood where he dwelt. He did, that is, until the lady of the house accepted as a gift a fullgrown Siamese cat named Felicia.

"You're making a mistake," warned the master of the house. "You know Scrapper can't stand cats. He'll make mincemeat of Felicia in five minutes."

"We'll see," replied the lady of the house serenely.

Scrapper was across the yard when Felicia arrived. At sight of her he let out a high, excited yelp. Then, a cavalierman at heart, he charged.

Felicia, staring at him silently with Mediterranean eyes, waited calmly, a citadel in fur. When Scrapper was within reach, she biffed him on the nose twice with her left paw, and followed with three deadly rights.

The next instant she was on his back, raking his head and neck with razor claws. The next instant she was under him, raking his belly with all deliberate speed.

Scrapper, bleeding, drew off in surprise from this feline tornado. He had learned the tactical error of Pickett at Gettysburg.

He wasn't afraid. There was no room in his lion heart for fear. But he knew he had to find another way. He had to catch Felicia off guard.

So he began to stalk her, methodically, inexorably, hate in his canine soul. This cat had wounded his terrier pride. She must pay, if it took a lifetime.

He stalked her by day and by night. He stalked her on a seven-day-a-week schedule, winter and summer and he never took a holiday. And he never caught Felicia off guard, never reached that "moment of truth" when he could move in and finish her off.

After three years of this war of nerves, Felicia, who up until then had enjoyed it as a game, apparently decided the time had come to end it. On a Sunday she walked to the edge of the yard, which bordered a busy highway. She stared at the traffic thoughtfully for a long time, and then turned and gazed thoughtfully at Scrapper, who was warily watching her.

Felicia, her mind made up, waited for a break in the traffic, then leisurely crossed the highway. She paused, looked back at Scrapper, then slowly and deliberately lay down in the grass, and rolled over as if asleep.

Tempted beyond caution, Scrapper raced madly out on the highway. There was a screeching of brakes—a yelp, then stillness.

The master of the house, who had been a spectator to the scene, rushed out and picked up Scrapper. The dog bit his hand gently, looked around wildly for Felicia, then his taut body relaxed in eternal languor.

"That cat deliberately lured him to his destruction," the master of the house said later.

"Perhaps," said the lady of the house, who, despite her sorrow over Scrapper, couldn't restrain a small feeling of womanly pride in Felicia.

The kids buried Scrapper in the back yard with full military honors and the beating of a tin-pail drum. They tossed bright yellow dandelions in his grave and two big steaks, and over it erected a cross made from an orange crate and wrote on it this epitaph:

"To the Scrapper, a Brave dog."

On warm afternoons Felicia used to like to lie on the grave, scratch in the dirt and sun herself lazily. One afternoon, two years later, the children found her there, calmly dead. So far as any could discover she was a victim of old age and lack of exercise.

They buried her next to the Scrapper after another grand mournful funeral and inscribed this epitaph, composed by the lady of the house: "To Felicia, a Smart Cat."

Side by side they sleep, the Scrapper and Felicia, beyond enmity.

More about Our Teachers

By George Sokolsky

J. H. Gilpin writes from Tacoma, Wash.:

"Our Tacoma City School Board is at present paying scale of $4,957.00 per year for the lowest grade of classroom teachers, amounting to $551.00 per month on the nine month schedule and we know that most teachers supplement annual income considerably through pleasant part time occupations during the three months vacation period. These rates are uniform and probably higher at different points along the Pacific coast."

My calculation based on these figures is that this lowest grade teacher gets a gross pay of $95.33 a week on which a federal income tax, social security tax and whatever state taxes there are must be deducted. The income tax withholding alone would amount to at least $14.80 providing a take - home pay, without deducting social security or state taxes, at $80.53.

It is difficult to understand why any city has the right to assume that teachers always can and do supplement their salaries by outside work or calculate on a nine month employment.

It would be better for the children if the teachers, particularly in the lower grades, could devote a maximum of time to the children who at the tenderest years should be encouraged to love the school and its books. Many children are spoiled by cranky and tired teachers who "take it out on them."

Gilpin's proposal sounds to me much like that made by an early department store magnate who, paying his help an unbelievable minimum, suggested that they could supplement their income as ladies of the night.

Quite opposite to J. H. Gilpin's views are those of Charles Silver, president of the Board of Education of New York City, who wants the schools open afternoons and evenings, Saturdays and Sundays, and during the summer holidays, to provide playgrounds, play rooms, club rooms, reading rooms for young people to keep them off the streets. That plan is offered as an approach to the problem of juvenile delinquency. All cities have the plant for such enterprises, but if teachers are to supplement their pay as waiters in restaurants or some such business, they will not be available for additional work with children in the schools.

The real trouble is that while we all are troubled by the problem not only of juvenile delinquency but also of inadequate preparation for life, few are willing to recognize that every solution costs something. If our children are to be trained by suitable teachers, teaching as a profession must be made attractive both financially and in the dignity of the position.

Gilpin was wrought up over my insistence that teachers are underpaid. So, he telephoned the local office of the Teamsters Union and found that their hiring-in-rate is $2.22 per hour, while he finds that teachers' lowest hourly rate is approximately $2.50 an hour. Does he include the correction of tests; the reading of juvenile essays beginning with "How I Spent My Summer Vacation"? If so, he might and a few hours a day for which the teacher is not paid at all. Does he include the hours that a competent teacher has to give to preparing for the day's work? If all the hours are added together, I fear little will be left of Mr. Gilpin's mathematics.

He ends his letter: "I hope that this brief message may change your perspective on the teacher's situation."

I fear not. I love children too

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

OZARK FOLKLORE abounds in Vance Randolph's "The Talking Turtle." It concerns a fellow named Lissenbee who "was always blabbing things all over the town. He didn't tell no lies: he just told the truth, and that's what made it so bad."

One day a talking turtle stopped him on the road and declared, "Lissenbee, you talk too darn much." The startled gossip headed for the nearest tavern to holler, "I just seen a turtle what talks." Everybody hooted, but followed him to the place where the turtle rested.

Despite all Lissenbee's pleas, the turtle never said a word, and the crowd melted away in disgust. "Liss" sat mournfully muttering, "My reputation's ruined." The turtle nodded and said, "Didn't I tell you? You talk too darn much!"

College sophomore: "I adore you. May I call you by a less formal name than Miss Snodgrass?" Village Queen: "Okay, lad! Call me Snod, but get out there and cut the grass!"

Get Hearing Aid For Deaf Child

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Selecting the best hearing aid for a child who is hard of hearing may be quite a problem. Should an ear specialist prescribe such a device for your youngster, you'll find you have any number of different models from which to choose.

More than 50 American firms manufacture hearing aids. Each one produces from one to six models. And new models are appearing constantly.

Most generally used are air-conduction aids which require a well-fitted ear piece in the external ear canal. Bone-conduction aids are sometimes prescribed, but are not nearly as common. This type has a receiver which is held in place over the mastoid bone.

But, no matter which type is best in your particular case, any hearing aid should provide these basic requirements: a d e q u a t e sound amplification, a u t h e n t i c sound reproduction, sensitivity to speech frequencies, comfort, convenience and wearability.

Don't select any hearing aid without getting it approved by your own doctor. He will check the instruments as to the specific types of hearing loss they were designed to benefit and he will also determine their particular characteristics.

Finally, have your doctor give the instrument you select an audiological evaluation. If it passes this test, then this probably is the best hearing aid for your youngster.

Once your doctor prescribes an aid, I suggest you obtain it as soon as possible. You don't want to deprive the child of this wonderful world of sound any longer than necessary.

While some children just can't seem to adjust to aids satisfactorily, and don't really get any benefit from them, most youngsters who are hard of hearing are greatly helped.

The age of the child doesn't matter much. Some hearing aids are prescribed for babies as young as one year. And you'd be surprised at the number of two- and four-year-olds who use them. The main thing is to discover any hearing defect your child might have and then correct it.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

E. A.: Are vegetable fats as digestible as animal fats?
Answer: Yes, they are.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (P)—The fabulous Gov. Faubus has lost a chance to gain $4 so far in his fight with the federal government.

Events today will go far toward determining how much else he may lose—or gain.

Let's take this situation in chronological order:

The governor of Arkansas went to Newport, R.I., last Saturday and promised President Eisenhower he would obey the law and "valid court orders." Faubus was talking, of course, about the Supreme Court's school integration decree and court orders stemming from it.

Thursday he had his first chance to show what that promise meant to him. A federal court had summoned him to appear as a witness in connection with another civil rights case. Faubus didn't show. He sent back the $4 witness fee tendered him in advance, and said that as governor he was not compelled to comply with a subpoena.

In other words, the governor was reserving the right to decide for himself whether a federal order applied to him or not.

This case was only a preliminary, of course. The main bout comes today before Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota. Faubus complained that Davies is "biased and prejudiced" against him. The judge is about to rule whether Faubus must remove Little Rock Central High School. Nobody doubts the judge will say: Pull out those troops at once, and let integration proceed. Integration, in this case, means letting nine Negro pupils go to school at Central High.

Faubus was asked if he'd obey the judge's order to appear in court today.

"You just wait and see," was his reply.

Then he was asked if he would withdraw the militiamen.

"I don't know," replied the governor.

This doesn't seem at first glance—or even second or third—like all-out compliance with Faubus' pledge to the President.

What probably will happen is that he will withdraw the troops—by Monday morning, chances are—and then take his case to higher courts.

As to what Faubus stands to gain or lose—apart from the $4—there seem to be two main possibilities:

1. Delay. He has agreed to accept integration—in time—if federal officials will be patient. Eisenhower certainly was patient with him. The President gave him every opportunity—some say entirely too much opportunity—to climb down off his limb.

2. Political capital. Unquestionably Faubus has endeared himself to a number of all-out segregationists, just as he has exasperated large numbers of believers in law and order. What the effect will be on Faubus' political future is a question. It is not even sure he intends a political future. Asked if he plans to run for a third term he gives a familiar answer: "I don't know."

One thing Faubus has accomplished: he has brought Little Rock to the attention of the whole world, from Newport to Moscow, as the Arkansas Gazette wincingly noted in an editorial earlier this week.

"Only in India," the newspaper said, "a land of the most patient of people, has there been a suggestion that this crisis will pass and that racial harmony will eventually prevail."

"This came from the Hindustan Standard and we thank its editors for those kind—and, these days, rare—words."

Freeway Job Bids Are Thrown Out

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways Thursday threw out all 11 bids on a 4.3 mile stretch of the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway in Delaware County.

The bids were opened Tuesday and the J. A. Jones Co. of Charlotte, N. C., submitted the apparent low bid of $2,970,931. The department estimate for the work was $3,397,500.

A department spokesman said the Jones bid was "unbalanced." He explained that as meaning some individual portions of the total bid appeared out of line.

The project will be up for bids again Oct. 15. It begins one mile north of U. S. 36 mid-way between Alum Creek and Berkshire and runs to a point one mile south of the Morrow County line.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Hope that there is oil or gas or both under part of Fayette County has sprung anew with announcement that Kewanee Oil Co. which has 425,000 acres under lease in Fayette and adjoining counties, has no intention of abandoning the field without further exhaustive tests in the area under lease.

This fact comes to light by the company employing an outfit to make large numbers of geophysical tests in the county through drilling the shallow wells, exploding dynamite in them and recording vibrations extending to considerable depths, indicating what is under the vicinity in which the tests are made.

An official of the company announced soon after the second deep well had been completed, that no further wells would be drilled in Fayette County this year. But he said that further geophysical tests might be made.

Such tests were made a number of years ago in southern Fayette County, by an Oklahoma oil firm, presumably Kewanee, but no information as to results was released.

Some surprising results may come from the large number of tests holes that are to be drilled in this area, under present plans. Who knows but that next year may see the sinking of other deep wells in this area. It all depends upon results of the geophysical tests now being made.

A lot of us are still of the belief that gas and oil are to be found in and near Fayette County.

BLACKBIRD NUISANCE
Huge flocks of blackbirds and starlings are beginning to congregate in various parts of the county, and are proving a nuisance in places where they gather in trees by the thousand to spend the night. Thousands of these birds have been roosting within the city, but may readily be put to flight by clapping two pieces of board or metal together.

One of the largest flocks in the county seems to like Paint Township, and they spend the days feeding in the fields and the nights in trees usually near farm houses. As a result, shotguns have been used to frighten the birds and keep them moving to other places.

Invariably during the latter part of September and well into October the big flocks of blackbirds and starlings congregate and become very annoying generally.

WOOLLY BEARS MOVING
Scores of times recently while driving about the county I have seen the "woolly bears," or

"woolly worms," hurring across the highways apparently hunting winter quarters.

Some of these worms are black and red, and others are yellow. The black and red worms are larvae of the Isabella moth and the yellow ones are larvae of the ermine moth.

One belief is that if more than half of the front part of the woolly bears is black, the first part of winter will be severe, and if the portion of black is small there will be little severe winter weather.

MAPLE GROVE HOTEL

When the Maple Grove Hotel property in Ross County sold for $1,500 some 20 years ago during work of liquidating the Ohio State Bank, it largely marked the end of a venture into which local residents poured tens of thousands of dollars, and so far as known, they received comparatively little in return.

M. S. Daugherty, banker, and others, including V. J. Dahl, were back of the project, and for some time the latter was manager of the big health resort in the hills seven miles east of Frankfort.

The hotel, a huge frame structure of three stories, was erected after samples of mineral water on the premises had shown marked medicinal qualities, somewhat similar to those of Sulphur Lick Hotel, a mile southeast of Maple Grove.

For some years Maple Grove Hotel drew a large patronage, largely from the Dayton area, and it became quite famous.

Then business started falling off and the hotel, which was on a 52 acre tract owned by the company, was closed.

It was vacant for many years, until finally the property, which originally had cost tens of thousands of dollars, was sold to F. J. Dalton of Shelby.

It was remodeled and greatly reduced in size. What was left of it is still standing, and used for a residence or apartments, I am informed.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Everett Jones and Walter Barnes were indicted for first degree murder in the killing of R. W. Lindsay, Jeffersonville restaurant keeper, who was shot to death while resisting a holdup July 4, 1937.

The automobile used by three men who held up the Farmers Bank at Good Hope was found in garage at Maysville, Ky., and officers were tracing ownership.

William McCoy, 91, for many years caretaker of the Masonic Temple building, died.

The first frost of the season recorded, but damage was light.

The Blue Ribbon Cereal Co. of Cleveland leased the building back of Masonic Temple, owned by Midland Grocery Co. to produce breakfast foods.

Sheriff W. H. Icenhower averted a jail break in which four prisoners were endeavoring to dig their way out.

The first new corn was sold here for 55 cents a bushel.

A man who could neither read or write applied for work at Reemployment office here, and when asked how tall he was said "eight feet and 10 inches, I guess."

Old Age Pension Change Is Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Welfare has recommended a five-day extension in the 10-day limit imposed last July for state payment of hospital care of old age pensioners.

The recommendation was submitted at a closed meeting of state officials and representatives of Ohio hospitals with Gov. C. William O'Neill Thursday.

Richard C. Minor, assistant state welfare director, said the proposal would apply only to hardship cases where pensioners must stay in a hospital longer than 10 days. Hospital costs for old-age pensioners beyond 10 days has to be paid by counties under the present setup.

New U.S. Squadron Being Formed To Handle H-Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's long-range H-bombers soon will be reinforced by a new Air Force squadron equipped with intercontinental guided missiles.

The Air Force announced Wednesday its first Snark squadron, numbering 500 officers and men, is rounding out its training in California and will be on duty before the end of this year.

The Snark, essentially a pilotless bomber, is designed to carry a nuclear warhead 5,000 miles at about the speed of sound. This is much slower than the intercontinental ballistic missile.

But the Snark is expected to give the United States added long-range retaliatory capability while an ICBM is perfected.

Mrs. Stephenson Entertains ESA Chapter

The social meeting of Alpha Theta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was held at the home of Mrs. Lester Stephenson Wednesday evening.

The president, Mrs. Howard Burnett Jr., opened the meeting. A letter was read from Mrs. June Ramsey on behalf of the Council for Retarded Children, thanking the chapter for its contribution.

Mrs. Dwight Martin gave a report on the council meeting held at Lincoln Lodge near Columbus. The state convention will be held in Cincinnati at the Netherland-Hilton Hotel on Oct. 25, 26 and 27.

Thirteen members and two guests attended. The two guests were Mrs. Claude Smith and Miss Lube Jenkins.

The prizes in canasta were won by Mrs. Sam Wilson and Miss Jenks.

A delicious sandwich course was served by the hostess and co-hostess, Mrs. Robert Goodson.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Junk on Oct. 2.

All-Day Meeting Held By Society

The McNair Presbyterian Missionary Society held an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. John Warnecke, Snow Hill Rd., Wednesday.

The morning session was spent in sewing articles for the missionary box.

A luncheon was served to 12 members and four guests. Guests were Mrs. Howard Wilson, Mrs. Harry Bell, Mrs. Willis McCoy and Dr. Paul Elliott, minister of the church.

Following the luncheon, a business meeting was held, opening with a hymn by the group, followed by a prayer.

Mrs. Warnecke was in charge of the devotion. Her topic was "Such as I Have, I Give."

It was announced that the district meeting is to be held Oct. 4 at the First Presbyterian Church. Reservations are to be in by Sept. 30, and these can be made by contacting Mrs. Robert Hyer.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Warnecke introduced Mrs. Howard Wilson, the Fourth District chairman of the Missionary Society. She conducted a question and answer period.

A hymn and the Mizpah benediction closed the all-day meeting.

Demonstration Club Holds First Meeting

The Planner's and Doers Home Demonstration Club, formerly called the Friendly Dozen, held its first fall meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Glendon Kelley, Wednesday afternoon.

Eight regular members and one new member, Mrs. Walter Hyer were present for the reorganization of the club.

The meeting consisted mostly of reorganizing and discussion of projects for the coming year. Mrs. Kelley, the new president, presided over the meeting.

Tempting refreshments were served by the hostess.

New Officers Conduct Meeting

The Newcomers Club met for the first fall session Thursday night at the Washington Lumber Co. Twenty-one members and 11 visitors attended.

The meeting was conducted by the new officers, Mrs. Raymond Baker, president, Mrs. Donald Cook, secretary, and Mrs. Karl Braun, treasurer.

During the business meeting, the group decided to devote much of its interest to the Children's Home this year. In response to a letter from the Council for Retarded Children, the club voted a contribution to the school it sponsors.

The general committees were named and tentative plans made for the year's activities. Mrs. Florence Barchi, Welcome Wagon hostess, explained her work and the function of the club.

During the social hour the committee composed of the retiring officers, Mrs. Fred Domenico, Mrs. Arthur Vetter, Mrs. William D'Andrea and Mrs. Joe Rush, served refreshments.

Guests, and prospective new members were Mrs. Wayne Rittenhouse, Mrs. Roger Miller, Mrs. Richard Fenton, Mrs. Marvin Merritt, Mrs. Roy Pierce, Jr., Mrs. John O'Rourke, Mrs. Cecil Pennington, Jr., Mrs. Raymond Lockman, Mrs. Thomas Watkins, Mrs. Gerald Rode and Mrs. Allen Willoughby.

Mrs. Lambert Hostess To Missionary Circle

The September meeting of the Mayme Rogers Missionary Circle of the First Baptist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Lambert Tuesday evening, with 10 members and one guest, Mrs. Harold B. Twining, present.

Mrs. Lambert, the newly elected chairman, opened the meeting. Mrs. Twining gave the prayer and Mrs. Albert Fackler was in charge of the devotion.

More and More U. S. Women Grow Brave, Enter Politics

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt once said that women who go into politics have to be willing to "stand up and be shot at."

Most women who have battled their way to the top in this field, long dominated by men, would say the same thing.

Despite this hurdle, Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, has announced there are more women in public offices now than ever before in this country's history. And, she adds, the trend is toward still more.

"We are gratified there are more women serving and the variety of jobs increasing," Miss Adkins said, "but we recognize the need to get more into public service."

Combining responsibility at home and holding a public service position doubles the challenge for a woman, she added.

"It is also true that the minute you become a candidate you become a focal point for all kinds of publicity, good and bad," she explained. "I would remind women candidates they are the symbol of the opposition and are going to be the butt of criticism. This is just as true with the men, but women are more sensitive to criticism in general than men."

In "Women in the Public Service," a series of surveys compiled by the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, of which Miss Adkins is also director, some 576,000 women are listed in federal government service as compared with 80,000 in 1923, when official government reports were first issued.

"As far as women appointees in this administration are concerned," Miss Adkins said, "we are gratified we have as many as we have, 134. We are always trying to get more appointments on the federal level. But it is not easy to get women of experience capable of top policy positions who are willing to make the sacrifice to come here."

Many women who have reached the top find they cannot afford to give up the retirement and security benefits accrued in private business, nor to divest themselves of investments as required under the "conflict of interests" law governing federal appointees.

"The glory, fun and excitement of serving their country has to be weighed against the very real consideration of taking care of their needs in an older age," Miss Adkins said.

Presbyterian Laymen Meet in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI — Laymen from Ohio gather here tonight for the annual rally of the State Synod Council of Presbyterian Men.

Las Vegas Listed Capital Of Live Entertainment World

By BOB THOMAS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The thing that impresses you on revisiting Las Vegas is the impact of television on the American entertainment scene.
No doubt about it, Las Vegas is the capital of live entertainment in the United States. Here you can see more star performers, more and better shows than in New York and Hollywood combined.
When I first came to this singing and summing resort a dozen years ago, the starring entertainers were the night club vets — Sophie Tucker, Joe E. Lewis, Ted Lewis, Harry Richman, and others.
Later the strip hotels went all-out for movie names. The debuts of stars like Van Johnson, Jeff Chandler, Marlene Dietrich and even Zsa Zsa Gabor were considered big events, even though the

Kentucky Aid Asked In Capture of Pair

LEBANON (AP)—Warren County Sheriff Richard Satterthwaite has asked Kentucky officials to watch for two men he wants to question in the shooting of South Lebanon's assistant police chief, Caesar Sparks.

The sheriff Thursday questioned Joe Noe, 41, and Sam Allen, 33, of South Lebanon, but did not disclose any details. Sparks was hit in the foot Wednesday by shots from a passing car as he stood in the doorway of police headquarters.

ard vaudeville acts with a headliner at the close. Because of TV, the public expects slicker, smarter entertainment. And it's getting it.

The Tropicana is offering an original musical, scored by Gordon Jenkins and staged by the best Broadway talent. Starring Vivian Blaine and Dick Shawn, it is as lavish as the most costly TV spectacular.

Victor Borge is presenting his offbeat comedy and onbeat pianistics at the Sahara. He is the only person onstage during the show, a precedent in Las Vegas. Such a thing would have been impossible before Borge attracted a wide and admiring audience on TV.

Jan Peerce, a Metropolitan Opera tenor with TV exposure, headlines the show at the Desert Inn. The hep audience applauds his arias with the fervor of a Met clique.

Milton Berle, Mr. Television himself, offers at El Rancho Vegas a hilarious, if somewhat racier, version of what he used to do on the home screen every Tuesday night. Spike Jones, just off a 20-week run on TV, brought his zany troupe to the Riviera and is knocking 'em dead with a devastating satire of the hit parade.

Barber Interrupts Job To Stab Pal, Then Shoot Him

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A barber interrupted a haircut Thursday to stab a friend, returned to his job and then stopped again to shoot to death the man he stabbed, Sheriff Dave Starr reported.

Herman L. Allen, 33, was jailed on an open charge in the slaying of Little Wes Kersey, 24, Stillmore, Ga.

A customer, Harry F. Ryan, told officers that Allen was cutting his hair while engaged in an argument.

Allen suddenly stabbed Kersey in the chest with scissors, then forced him to sit in a chair while he continued to cut Ryan's hair, Starr said.

After a few moments Kersey bolted for the door and Allen pulled a pistol and fired twice, hitting him the second time in the back, the sheriff said.

Ryan was unharmed.

CLINTON CO. FARM
173 ACRES
FRIDAY, OCT. 4,
SELLS AT 2:00 P. M.

LOCATED — Three miles west of New Vienna, first farm south of State Route 28, on the Hildebrand Road in Clinton County, Ohio. Here is a good Clinton County farm consisting of 173 acres with 85 acres of bottom land, complete set of modern farm buildings. A real stock and grain farm, practically all tillable, excellent water supply and good drainage.

IMPROVEMENTS — Exceptionally good eight-room modern home consisting of four rooms down with modern kitchen, full dining room, large living room, den with fireplace, and lavatory and stool off kitchen. Has four large bedrooms, each with walk-in closets, and full modern bath up. Has full basement, 85-gallon electric water heater, water softener, and front and back porches. This house is in excellent state of repair with life time slate roof. A beautiful setting for a home with several nice shade trees. Outbuildings consist of main barn, 32x64, with 11 stanchions for milking cows and a concrete floor, second barn 34x42. Both barns in good condition under good metal roof. Poultry house, two brooder houses, and milk house which could be used for grade A dairy. This farm is well located, just off state highway in one of the best farming communities in Clinton County, being close to good schools and markets. Has been in the same family for fifty years and is in a high state of cultivation. Farm is practically all tillable with 85 acres of bottom land, 12 acres of permanent bluegrass with access to small creek with never failing water. Two good drilled wells and large cistern. Anyone looking for a good farm from an investment standpoint or to live on, be sure to inspect this one by date of sale.

INSPECTION — Permitted any time prior to day of sale.

TERMS — $6,000.00 cash at time of sale, balance on delivery of deed on or before December 1, 1957. Purchaser will have immediate possession of farm, fall seeding privileges and possession of the house on or before January 1, 1958. This farm will carry a good long term farm loan with a reliable insurance company.

Midwest College Grid Teams Practice Hard for Openers

backs who attended the same high school in Evanston, Ill., have shown promise in practice so far. They are quarterback Stan Noskin, right halfback Brad Myers and left halfback Darrell Harper.

Michigan State — The reserves have been getting a going over this week. The coaches are slimming down the squad to the Big Ten limit of 38 players.

Minnesota — Injuries may upset Minnesota's plans to use two backfield platoons against Washington in the Gopher's first game Sept. 28.

Indiana — Indiana's two first string backs, Junior Dave Whitell of Shelby, Mich., and sophomore Vic Jones of Clearfield, Pa., are drawing praise from the university's coaches. The team captain this year will be Don Howell, 195-pound guard from Gary, Ind.

Purdue — Coach Jack Mollenkopf said he doubts if Purdue's big tackle, Wayne Farmer, will be ready for the opening game with Notre Dame Sept. 28. The 235-pound junior is recovering from a midsummer back operation.

Iowa — The Iowa varsity took the ball around the 20-year line and required only one play Wednesday to score against the reserves.

Notre Dame — Coach Terry Brennan has ordered secret practice for Notre Dame from today until the season opener against Purdue Sept. 28. Scrimmages were on tap for every day the rest of this week.

Wisconsin — Coach Milt Bruhn dropped his plans to build a 24-man first team setup. Instead he selected his 11 first choices for what could be his starting lineup against Marquette a week from Saturday.

Marquette — Mim Surane, one of Marquette's two lettermen at fullback, has become scholastically ineligible to play football this season.

Northwestern — The Wildcats, who have been holding morning and afternoon practice sessions, will cut down to one a day starting today.

Michigan — Three sophomore

backs who attended the same high school in Evanston, Ill., have shown promise in practice so far. They are quarterback Stan Noskin, right halfback Brad Myers and left halfback Darrell Harper.

Ohio College Gridders Ready

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's collegiate football season, with three games played in last week-end's prologue, gets down to serious business Saturday.

Twenty-six of the state's 34 colleges will see action in a 17-game program. Two of the tilts are in the Ohio Conference, but the others are "just for fun" contests featured by eight frays with out-of-state opponents.

Bowling Green, the state's only unbeaten team in 1956, opens by entertaining Baldwin Wallace in a night fray. Heidelberg and Bluffton, tied for second place in last year's overall race with one loss in nine starts, tangle at Tiffin in another evening contest.

Although a non-conference game, the Heidelberg-Bluffton scrap has heavy interest. The Student Princes won Ohio Conference laurels last year with a 5-1 mark.

Other contests send Ashland to Wooster, Oberlin to Ohio Northern, and Findlay to Central State.

In interstate games Ohio University is host to the Indiana, Pa., Teachers; West Virginia Wesleyan plays at Marietta; Western Colorado invades youngstown; Geneva is at Muskingum; Toledo at Eastern Kentucky; Denison at California, Pa.; Teachers; Wilmington at Centre, and Defiance at Adrian, Mich.

Other contests send Ashland to Wooster, Oberlin to Ohio Northern, and Findlay to Central State.

Illinois Grid Coach Faces Season with 'Green' Team

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The University of Illinois quarterback job appears wide open only seven days before the Illinois football opener against UCLA. A sophomore this week jumped ahead of two lettermen at the position.

That seems to typify the problems of Ray Eliot, "dean" of Big Ten coaches, as he launches his 16th Illinois campaign.

"Our big worry is lack of depth and the number of green players we have to use," said Eliot.

Never given to optimism, the veteran coach has this description of a team back from a 1-4-2 Big Ten record which tied for seventh last year.

"Our size is ordinary. We're not very fast. Our punting is ordinary and our passing is ordinary. The one redeeming feature of this squad is its excellent spirit. "We have one experienced end; one experienced guard; and center is up for grabs. We're hoping Bill Offenbecker, who moved in mid-way last season, will take over at quarterback."

"We feel we have two Western Conference halfbacks in Capt. Dale Smith and Bobby Mitchell and two capable fullbacks in Ray Nitschke and Jack Delleveaux."

Generally, Eliot rates this the greenest squad he has coached since World War II with possible exception of the 1953 club which had to switch from platoon to two-way football. The 1953 team, however, learned its lessons quickly, winding up with a 5-1 Big Ten record to share the title with Michigan State.

Eliot stresses the fact that experience is completely lacking at left guard and there is only one letterman replacement among the halfbacks, that being a 1953 reserve, Don Grothe, back from military service.

"We had to switch two sophomores who were high school quarterbacks, Dejustice Coleman and Doug Wallace, to the No. 3 spots at left and right halfbacks," Eliot said.

Grothe and L. J. Bonner, 1956 squad member.

Running No. 1 quarterback at the moment is a sophomore from Chicago, Bob Hickey, who threw five touchdown passes and scored once himself in a scrimmage last Saturday.

Illini passing attack is expected to improve. Eliot ranks veteran end Rod Hanson and a fleet sophomore, Rich Kreitling, at the other wing, as two of the finest receivers Illinois has had "in a long time."

Although Eliot describes Mitchell and Smith as journey-men Big Ten halfbacks, they could be two of the best rushers in the conference. Mitchell, hurt last season, was a sensational game-breaker late in the 1954 campaign.

Plowmen Working Second Round of World Contest

PEEBLES (P)—The world's plowing matches went into the last half today with some of the contestants turning up as much pessimism as soil.

Optimism was rare. Too dry, too moist, too little time, too hot. The complaints started as soon as the plowmen completed their opening rounds Thursday on half-acre plots of stubble land.

For today's half-acre sod plowing, the competitors from 14 nations have three hours. But the time limit on the stubble is only two and a half hours.

"That's just too short," said 29-year-old John Mason of Derbyshire, England, one of the two British entrants. "I had a difficult time with my finishing furrows because I had no time to stop and measure the width left as I approached them."

And, added Mason, "that sun! I never sweated so much in my life."

W. LAWRENCE McMillan, 29, of Dundonald, in Northern Ireland, was another who thought the time too limited.

"You had three hours for stubble last year," he said. "This speed is spoiling the contest and lowering the standard of plowing."

Mason, McMillan and several other European competitors agreed that the soil is too dry. Arne Braut, 22, of Horpestad, Norway, said the dryness made it hard for his plows to cover the remnants of old crops, one of the important judging points in the event.

"It's not fair to bring people of European nations to a contest in America and not water the ground when the soil is too hard," he declared. "When Sweden had the contest, it spent thousands of dollars to water the ground before the plowing."

Braut finished his plot with a half hour to spare Thursday but he said the time limit made him nervous anyway.

Another of the proponents of moist soil was William De Lint, 27, of Zevenberoch, Holland. "My plot was sticky in places and the soil kept building up on the plows. A little more moisture would have made it slide off easily."

On the other hand, American Lawrence Goettmoeller of Celina, Ohio, wasn't sure but what the land "could have been a little drier for good plowing."

"GENERALLY, though, I guess I consider this soil in pretty good shape for fall plowing," he conceded.

Torbjorn Ellele, manager of the Norwegian team, said he believed none of the many complaints should be taken too seriously.

"You see," he said, "everyone would like conditions just like he has at home. Most Americans work in dry soil, most Europeans work in moist soil."

"These complaints, they are just like you hear in any kind of contest. Everyone wants to make his excuse ahead of time."

Nationalists Report Fight with Red Ships

TAIPEI, Formosa (P)—Nationalist and Communist warships battled Thursday night near the offshore island of Matsu, the Defense Ministry reported today.

It said three Communist warships were engaged and routed and that one of them was possibly sunk. The size of the ships involved was not given nor the number of Nationalist ships engaged.

Soviet Press Claims U. S. Economy on Rocks

MOSCOW (P)—Soviet newspapers published a Tass roundup from New York today which said the United States is on the verge of a grave economic collapse.

The Soviet news agency dispatched said there was "nervous apprehension" about soft spots apparent in the American economy.

Ohio Bell Due To Present Another Contract Proposal

CLEVELAND (P)—Negotiations to end a five-day-old telephone strike were delayed today as the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. asked more time to prepare a new contract proposal.

U. S. Military Power Shows Gain on Reds

Defense Chief Claims Manpower Cutbacks Fail To Harm Nation

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says he believes "we have gained on the Russians in relative military strength since 1953," despite manpower cuts and other Pentagon economy moves.

Claiming gains from better weapons, including missiles, Wilson hinted at still further manpower cutbacks as he discussed at a news conference a 100,000-man force reduction ordered Thursday.

That cut, to be effective by next June 30, will reduce the nation's military strength to 2,600,000 men.

He called it a fair assumption still further cuts may be made in connection with the next fiscal budget which goes to Congress in January.

Wilson also disclosed plans to pare the Defense Department's civilian payroll by 35,000 to 40,000 workers. There was no estimate of the saving from this move.

THE DEFENSE chief said the manpower cutbacks were approved by President Eisenhower.

At the same news conference, Wilson discounted the importance of a Russian claim last month that Soviet weapon makers had made a successful test of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Wilson said that what the Russian report said "is probably actually true." But he contended the Soviets made only a general statement that they had developed a missile, that it had performed as it was intended to do, and that the test results indicated such projectiles could be directed toward any part of the world.

The secretary added that "the United States could have said the same thing months ago."

Wilson said that in his opinion the Russians don't have an operational missile. But he said they will have one someday "and so will we."

Later, William M. Holaday, Wilson's special assistant on long-range weapons development, said in a speech to a scientific meeting that the United States "has sent a test ballistic missile thousands of miles."

A defense official said Holaday referred to a successful launching last November of a modified Army Jupiter, an intermediate range missile designed to travel 1,500 miles. On this test, the Jupiter went 3,000 miles.

In explaining the reasons behind the new manpower trimming, Wilson said, "We are so close to the debt limit that the Treasury can't even borrow the money." The legal ceiling on the national debt is $275 billion.

The 2,600,000-man force now scheduled for next June 30 would compare with American troop strength of 1,460,000 when the Korean War broke out in June 1950. I would be about a million below the peak during that conflict.

New York, where the CWA and Western Electric Co. have been negotiating a contract for 23,800 telephone equipment installers, an agreement ending that strike was reached early today.

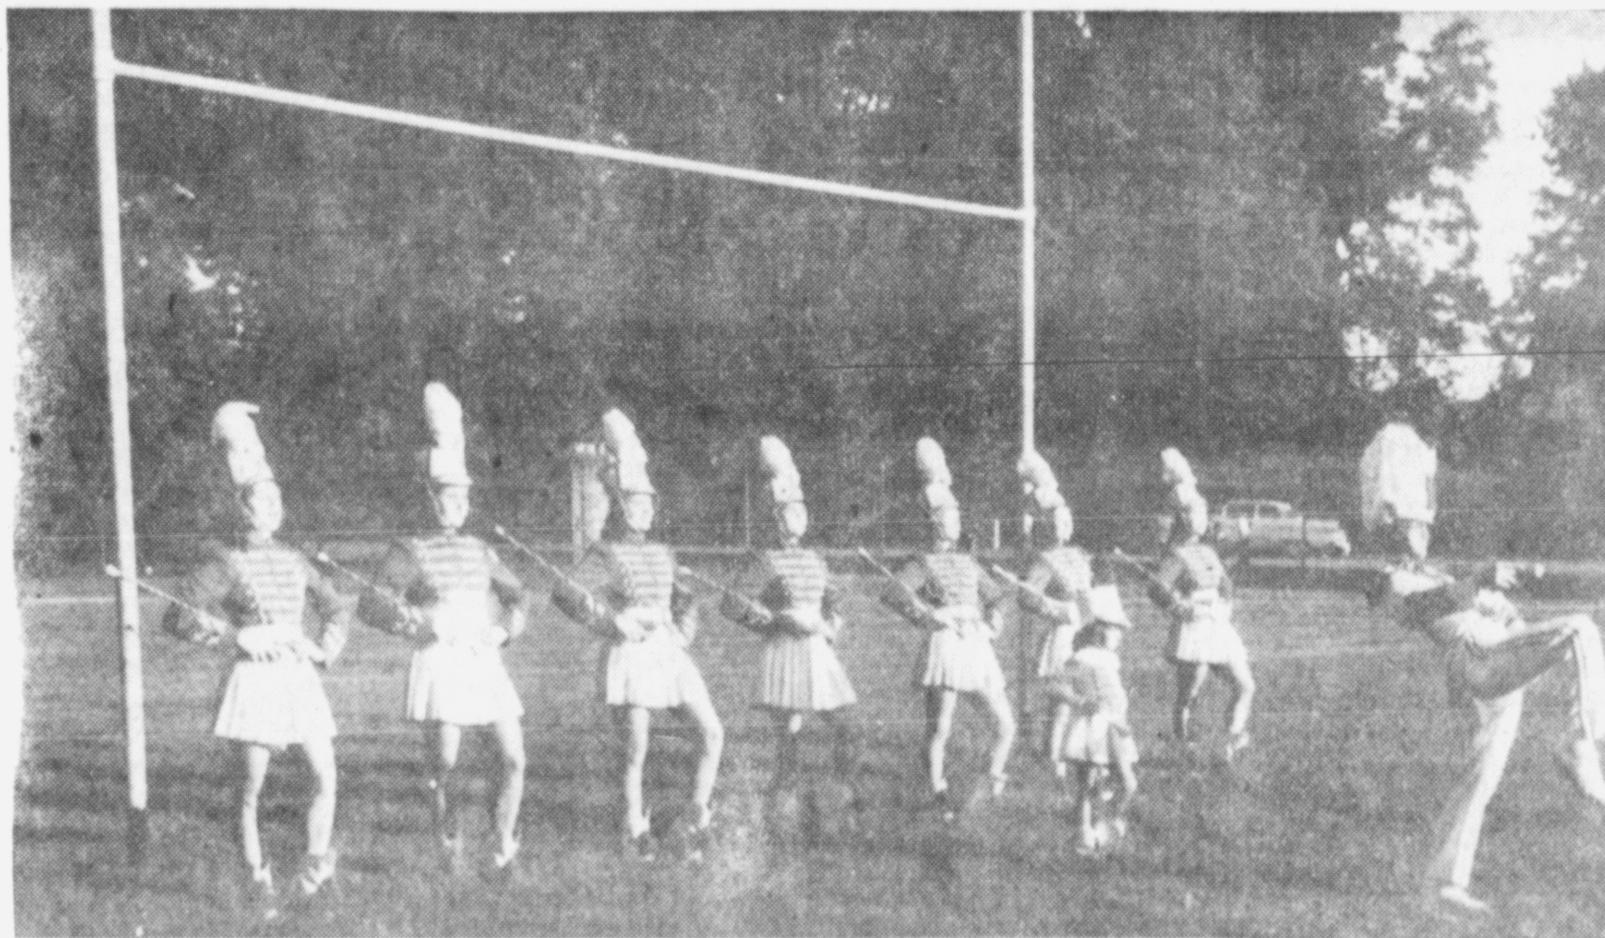

Settlement of the issues in the Western Electric walkout removed a barrier to return of Ohio Bell workers. The start of the two strikes was timed by the union to coincide, and CWA unionists working for Ohio Bell would not have crossed Western Electric employees' picket lines around exchanges in the major Ohio cities if an Ohio agreement had been reached first.

The Western Electric agreement came about two hours after Ohio Bell and CWA representatives recessed their night session with a federal mediator.

THEY MET FOR nearly an hour from 7:30 p.m. recessed, then got together again for a half hour to 11:15 before quitting for the night. Both sides said no progress was made at the sessions.

As the negotiations now stand, Ohio Bell has offered a one-year contract providing pay hikes of $2 to $4.50 a week, or a 15-month

Lions' Home Opener Tonight

The 1957 home football season will be inaugurated under the lights at Gardner Park Friday night when the Lions of Washington C. H. High School and the Buccaneers of Xenia Central clash against a colorful backdrop of music by two quick-stepping bands led by high-stepping majorettes.

It will be more than a football game; it will be a spectacle which could be marred only by the weather.

Before the two teams take the field, the combined bands will present a pre-game show, which will include the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" under the direction of Robert Downs, Xenia band director and the introduction of the WHS drum major, seven majorettes and mascot majorette.

During the intermission, the two bands will divide the time to offer their individual brands of pageantry.

THE THEME of the Washington C. H. band show is "Fall." It will be carried out with formations of an overcoat, leaves falling from a tree, the harvest moon coming over a hill, a school sock hop and, of course, a football game. Music to be played for these formations includes "September Song," "Butt Up Your Overcoat," "Shine on Harvest Moon," "Singing the Blues" and the WHS football song and alma mater.

Bandmaster Robert Neumann explained that this is the same show that had been prepared for the game a week ago at Linden-McKinley High School in Columbus, but was not given there because of rain during the day. There was no indication up to 1 p.m. Friday that the band show would be postponed unless there is a heavy downpour.

THIS WILL BE the second public appearance of the season for the two football teams, however. And, both lost their openers—the Lions to Linden's Panthers, 20 to 0, and the Buccaneers to the boys from Hamilton Catholic, 19 to 13.

The game stacks up as one of experience vs. inexperience, with eight seniors among the 11 Buccaneer starters and half that many seniors on the probable Lions starting team.

The Lions will be outweighed an average of 9 pounds per player on the line, but the backfields just about balance with an average of around 150 pounds. The Xenia line averages around 182 pounds and the WHS line 173 pounds.

Scouts have reported that the Xenia backfield is fast and tricky and that the team's offense includes an effective aerial attack.

COACH Fred Domenico of the Lions said earlier in the week that question marks hung over two or three positions, but after Wednesday's practice some of the furrows were fading from his brow. But, he still did not commit himself on the lineup for the home opener.

Rather, he gave the impression that a good many of the Lions would see action before the game is over.

Inexperience and jitters were held largely responsible for the Lions' loss at Linden-McKinley last Friday because the Panthers scored all 20 points during the first half. While the Lions held the Panthers scoreless in the second half of that game, they were unable to get their offense clicking sufficiently to erase the zero from the score.

But, after a shuffling of players and stepped up drill on offense this week, Coach Domenico said he hoped that the offense had been smoothed out.

While Xenia is in a different league, the school's are old sports rivals. For this reason—and the spectacle—a near-capacity crowd is expected.

Big Missile Fired by U. S.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (P)—A big, gleaming, cigar-shaped missile, believed to be the Air Force Thor, was blasted into the sky from the missile test center here at 9:25 a. m. today.

The missile rose straight up for perhaps 15 to 20 miles, then curved to the eastward and kept climbing on an arc as it zoomed into the blue.

Rising with a flaming tail, the missile discharged white smoke at high altitude like a skyrocketing plane. Then it turned on a more curving course and climbed away leaving a streak of gray.

It sounded in the air like a squadron of bombers passing overhead. It was perhaps half a minute after it left the launching pad before the sound could be heard.

The sky was crystal clear and the missile could be seen for at least two minutes after it left the ground.

If it was the Thor, it was the fourth and only successful launching of this missile to date.

THE FIRST two were of doubtful success and the third launching Aug. 30 traveled an estimated 10 to 17 miles before a booster apparently threw it off course.

Asst. Defense Secretary Donald Quarles was at the base and probably watched the firing. His report to Defense Secretary Wilson may have an effect on the decision as to whether the Air Force Thor, the Army Jupiter or a combination of both goes into production.

Both the Thor and the Jupiter have ranges of 1,500 miles and are rated as intermediate range missiles.

There still is speculation that an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile may be fired from here in a day or so.

Terrific Downpour Hits North Ohio

COLUMBUS (P)—Terrific downpours of rain swept a narrow band of northern Ohio Thursday night and early today, dumping more than four inches of water in some areas.

The Columbus Weather Bureau said the band of heavy rain, apparently only 40 miles wide, extended from west to east across the entire state, starting at St. Marys.

Upper Sandusky reported 3.1 inches of rain, official measurement, and had unofficial reports of up to 4½ inches.

Findlay reported 2.18 inches, Kenton 2.25, Bucyrus 2.97, Tiffin 1.96, Gallon 4.2, Mansfield 3.98.

Reds Blame U. S. For Syria Tension

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko blamed the West today for the tense Middle East situation. He declared Russia "cannot watch impassively over a situation that bears upon its own security."

The Soviet leader struck back vigorously at charges made by Secretary of State Dulles that the Kremlin was endangering peace in the Middle East by sending arms to Arab countries.

Addressing the 82-nation General Assembly, Gromyko said:

"The Soviet Union cannot place itself in the position of an impassive observer while the Near and Middle East—an area close to the frontiers of the Soviet Union, is being turned into a permanent hotbed of military conflicts."

He accused the West of inventing charges against the Soviet Union to hide its own intentions to dominate the Middle East.

He placed the blame specifically on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and asserted that "rude political and economic pressure is being exerted" against Syria.

"LATELY," he said, "she is being more and more frequently threatened with open military intervention."

The reason for this, Gromyko continued, "is that the people of Syria and their government refuse to submit to foreign dictation or to allow their country to be drawn into aggressive blocs."

He declared the U. S. position on the Syrian problem is ample proof "that the Eisenhower doctrine is completely hostile to the interests of the people of the Near East."

Dulles told the Assembly Thursday that Turkey is facing a "growing military danger" as a result of Soviet arms massed along the Syrian border and also along the Soviet-Turkish frontier.

Informed sources say the British government is convinced Syria is so completely under Russian domination that it may be too late to save the Arab state.

The informants said the British feel Egypt is not quite so far gone, but also is in Russia's grip.

Britain welcomed Dulles' warning to the Assembly, these sources said, as a step toward sealing off Soviet-dominated areas and preventing their spread.

XX Army Corps Being Activated

COLUMBUS (P)—The 20th (XX) Corps, a consolidation of three military districts, will be formally activated today when Maj. Gen. Martin J. Morin, corps commander, accepts the colors at a ceremony at Fort Hayes.

The activation is part of the Department of the Army's plan to consolidate eight military districts into two corps areas, the XX Corps, which includes the military districts of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia with headquarters at Fort Hayes, and the 21st (XXI) Corps, the CCI Corps, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Pa., which includes Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia.

Saud Said Prepared To Help Defend Syria

CAIRO (P)—The newspaper Al Akhar today quoted King Saud of Saudi Arabia as saying "I and my sons are prepared to shed the last drop of our blood to defend Syria."

In a dispatch from its Geneva correspondent, the newspaper said the monarch made the statement in Baden-Baden, Germany, before his departure for Switzerland Thursday.

Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria concluded a military defense pact in 1956.

Judge Studies Teamster Poll

Big Union Is Ordered To Hearing Sept. 27

WASHINGTON (P)—Federal Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today ordered James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters Union bosses to show cause here Sept. 27 why the coming Teamsters convention should not be barred from electing officers.

The order was secured by an attorney who two years ago stalled Hoffa's attempt to swing a New York City Teamsters election.

The lawyer, Godfrey Schmidt, planned to seek an immediate restraining order in Federal District Court to block election of new officers at the Teamsters International convention opening Sept. 30 in Miami Beach, Fla.

On behalf of 13 union members from the New York City area, Schmidt filed suit Thursday contending that 80 per cent of the nearly 2,000 delegates to the convention were hand-picked to vote for Hoffa. The way they were chosen, the suit alleged, violates the union's constitution.

Schmidt wants a court restraining order to delay the union election until new delegates can be chosen democratically.

"This is strictly a rank-and-file move to reclaim for the union's members a little of the industrial democracy they've lost on the way," Schmidt said.

HE IS THE MAN who represented Martin T. Lacey in a successful 1956 federal court challenge of a union election. In that case, the court threw out votes of a set of phantom Teamsters locals that would have upset Lacey's reelection as president of the New York area Teamsters council.

Hoffa, now the giant union's Midwest boss, supported John O'Rourke against Lacey for the New York post. It was testified in Senate racket hearings that Hoffa helped set up the fictitious locals to swing the vote to O'Rourke. The latter invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to testify.

Pickerington Bank Robbed of $3430 By Youthful Thug

COLUMBUS (P)—A quiet young gunman held up the Pickerington Bank Co. at nearby Pickerington today and escaped with $3,430.

Witnesses said the holdup man wore dark glasses and an ivy league cap. Only four of the seven persons in the banking room were aware that the robbery was in progress.

Kenneth Weaver, 30, a teller, told police the gunman forced him to put the money in one of three bags he carried.

Police and sheriff's deputies throughout Central Ohio were alerted to set up road blocks in an effort to capture the robber.

The robber fled the scene in an auto with license tags which had been issued in Columbus. He left after trying unsuccessfully three times to get the teller to open the vault. Weaver told him he didn't know the combination.

Cashier Aubrey W. Prewitt told police: "He wasn't in the bank two minutes."

It was the second holdup of the bank in three years. On Oct. 1, 1954, bandits obtained $17,720.

Norse King Resting

OSLO, Norway (P)—A medical bulletin said today the condition of dangerously ill King Haakon VII was unchanged, but that he had spent a quiet night. The 85-year-old king is suffering from a circulatory ailment.

Arkansas Aides Say U. S. Lacks Jurisdiction

Governor's Motion Against Judge Fails To Gain Approval

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (P)—Attorneys for Gov. Orval Faubus walked out on the injunction hearing against the governor today after declaring they do not recognize the jurisdiction of the U. S. District Court.

Their walkout came immediately after U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies rejected their motion to dismiss the government's petition for injunctions commanding Faubus to stop interfering with the integration of Little Rock Central High School.

William J. Smith, Faubus' personal attorney, said "As far as we are concerned we're through."

With that, Smith and the governor's other attorneys, Tom Harper and Kay Matthews left the courtroom.

Despite this dramatic showing, Judge Davies called for first testimony in the hearing. Witnesses were summoned to the stand.

Faubus, who had asked the judge to step down because of alleged "bias and prejudice" was not in the court room as the proceedings began.

Davies said the Faubus motion was "not legally sufficient" and not timely.

These were the two principal arguments brought against the motion by government attorneys. Donald C. McGuiness, arguing against Faubus' motion, spoke for 18 minutes and Kay Matthews, one of the three attorneys representing the governor, spoke for seven minutes in response.

Matthews challenged the government's right to file a counter motion to strike down the governor's claim that Davies was biased and prejudiced.

THIS CLEARED the way for the presentation of evidence in the story that has gripped the nation for three weeks.

Like Faubus, Arkansas Adj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger also was absent from the courtroom.

It was Clinger who at Faubus' orders deployed National Guardsmen around the high school to prevent Negroes from entering, a move the governor said was taken to prevent violence.

Clinger is a co-defendant with Faubus in the injunction suit.

Faubus was not strictly required under a summons to appear in person today. The U. S. District Court clerk said he could be represented by counsel.

Clerical Error Cited in Estate

CINCINNATI (P)—The late Phil E. Ziegler, former secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, left an estate of $71,329, but an error swelled it to $1,340,490.

That's the report by union officials who said failure to list the Brotherhood name on a safety deposit box that Ziegler used led to erroneous inclusion of $1,269,131 in union bonds in his estate.

George M. Gibbons, Ziegler's successor, said Thursday that the U. S. Treasury notes, registered in the name of the union, were turned over to its officers shortly after Ziegler died April 20.

Hospital Board Explains Bond Issue, Levy Need

Reasons why a $780,000 Fayette County Memorial Hospital bond issue and a .65 of a mill hospital operating levy are being submitted to voters at the Nov. 5 election are outlined in a statement prepared by the institution's board of trustees.

All six members of the board—George Pensyl, E. Marilyn Riley, George Campbell, Mrs. Fern Chaffin, Edwin Ducey and Robert Mac—signed the brief in support of the two hospital issues. The Record-Herald reprints it in full as a public service.

"THE BOARD of Trustees of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital is asking for public support of its building program and operating levy only after many months of serious study and deliberation.

"Last year it was decided, in deference to other issues of importance, to delay our program. We now feel that it is our duty to place before the citizens of this county the facts that show why this issue is to be on the ballot this November.

"There is no denying the fact that our hospital has met a far greater public acceptance than was ever dreamed of when it was built in 1950 or when the wing was added in 1953. We have completed statistical information, which we intend to present between now and election time, to show the percentage of occupancy at all times since it opened until the present time."

"WE ARE thankful that most patients are unaware of overcrowding and have not been neglected because of it. However, when there are 10 or more patients in the hall it can no longer be called good hospital practice.

"This situation does not come about because of some disaster (Please Turn to Page Three)

Cardinals Face Play and Pray Series at Cincy

Sweep of 3-Game Set Necessary Before Joust with Braves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals are riding a "play and pray" parlay at Cincinnati before opening what should be a three-game showdown in the National League race against the first-place Milwaukee Braves Monday night.

A sweep of the three-game week end set at Cincinnati is a "must" for the Cards to guarantee they'll still be close to the Braves going into the final week.

The Braves, leading by four with a magic number of six, have won three straight, junking a slump that whittled their 8½-game bulge to 2½. Both the Braves and Cards have nine to play, with any combination of six Milwaukee victories and St. Louis defeats giving the Braves the flag.

The Braves play an afternoon game at Chicago today against the frisky Cubs, with southpaw Warren Spahn making a third pitch for his eighth 29-victory season.

In the American League, the pennant race is over for all practical purposes. The New York Yankees, with a six-game lead and a magic number of four, are at home to Boston tonight while Chicago's second-place White Sox are at Cleveland.

The White Sox prolonged the inevitable in the only game scheduled Thursday with Nellie Fox and Minnie Minoso slamming consecutive home runs in a four-run 13th that defeated Washington 7-3.

The Cardinals, who have split eight games at Cincinnati but lead the Redlegs 11-8 for the season, bump into an old southpaw hex tonight with young Don Gross (6-9) starting for the Redlegs. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (8-10) opens for the Cardinals.

Mizell was the Cards' lone southpaw until Thursday, when they bought Bob Kuzava (8-1) from Columbus of the American Assn. and Morrie Martin (14-4) from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League. Both have been around Kuzava is 34, Martin 35.

To make room for the pair, St. Louis released relief veteran Hoyt Wilhelm and sold infielder Eddie Miksis to Baltimore.

The Braves, with hard-hitting Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington ill and slugging Bob Hazle bothered by a sore shoulder, didn't figure to have an easy time with the seven left-handed Cubs. The Bruins, with Ernie Banks on a homer hitting binge, have won five in a row and stand 9-10 against Milwaukee.

The Cubs will throw their best, right-handers Bob Rush (6-15), Moe Drabowsky (11-14) and Dick Drott (15-11), against the Braves, who figure to pick Bob Buhl (17-7) and probably Bob Trowbridge (7-5) after Spahn (19-10) pitches the opener.

Tony Anthony Losing Backing In Title Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Young Tony Anthony, who was just 2 years old when Archie Moore began fighting main events, battles to relieve the crafty but aging boxing master of his light heavyweight title tonight.

Odds on the fight opened in the challenger's favor, then swung to even as Moore's weight problems decreased. By ring time at 9 p.m. EST, the champion probably will be favored.

That's largely because Anthony's ability to take a solid smash remains questionable. He failed to finish four times while campaigning as a middleweight, thus leaving some glass jaw impressions. He hasn't lost, however, since moving into the 175-pound class in late 1955.

The champion, who might be anywhere between 40 and 44, goes after a knockout early while Tony plans to stay away during the early rounds and then close against a foe he expects will be tiring.

Anthony at 22 carries his poundage on a 6-foot-1 frame. He emphasizes speed rather than stopping ability, although he stopped 23 of 35 foes since turning pro after being on Uncle Sam's 1952 Olympic squad.

Tony earned the title shot by knocking out Chuck Spieser in Detroit last April 4 but could only gain a draw against French-Canadian Yvon Durelle June 14.

Cubs Manager Bob Scheffing doesn't care whether the Braves or Cardinals win the pennant as long as his Cubs beat them both in the waning days of the season.

Ohio State '11' Gets Advice from Visiting Sooners

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes swapped part of their football practice time Thursday for some advice from the coach of the nation's top collegiate football team in 1956.

Oklahoma's powerful Sooners went through an afternoon workout in Buckeye Stadium. They were on their way to Pittsburgh for a game Saturday.

At the end of the day, Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson said his team achieved its great success primarily because the players always maintain high enthusiasm. He said that daily practice is also vital.

"If you can keep up a good practice tempo, you will do well in the game," he said.

Wet or Dry Track, Torpid Looks Like Top 3-Year-Old

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—It looks as if Torpid, on wet track or day, is America's top 3-year-old pacer for 1957. He appears headed for pacing's triple crown.

The amazing son of Knight Dream-Torresdale captured the 12th annual $73,528.15 Little Brown Jug in straight heats Thursday.

The flashy bay colt, owned by the Sherwood Farm of Irvington, N.J., won the first heat in the 16-horse, two-division classic on a dry track in 2:00.4.

He came back three hours later, after a heavy rain, to snatch the clincher by pulling out of a fifth-place pocket at the head of the stretch and pacing over everything in 2:03.2.

Johnny Simpson, the 38-year-old North Carolinian who has driven Torpid to fame and fortune, said his standout "was just a little bit off" despite his sterling show before 39,000 fans. Torpid picked up $27,205.41.

Now he and Torpid are going after something new — pacing's triple crown. They already have two legs — the $65,000 Futurity at Yonkers and the Little Brown Jug — and they'll make their next start in the $95,000 Messenger Stake at Roosevelt Raceway in New York Oct. 23.

Until then, Torpid gets a rest. He deserves it, after winning $27,205.41 at the rate of about $111 per second Thursday. Simpson said: The Jug conquest boosted Torpid's 1957 purses to $109,517, and his two-year salary to $182,793. He's won 36 of 39 heats.

The first five horses in each division came back for the third and final runoff, and here's how they finished, with their share of the purse:

Torpid (1-1) $27,205.41; Meadow Lands (1-5) $11,029.22; Morris Eden (2-4) $7,720.46; Adios Express (5-2) $6,617.54; Newport Judy (2-9) $5,514.61; Maxine's Dream (3-3) $6,617.52; Great Adios (3-8) $3,308.76; Meadow Rhythm (4-7) $2,205.85; Duke of Wellington (4-10) $2,205.85; Razzle Dazzle (5-6) $1,102.93.

Ohio Fishing Said To Be Only Fair

COLUMBUS (AP)—The fishing outlook for the coming weekend is only fair, the Ohio Division of Wildlife reports in its final fishing report of the season.

Most lakes are clear and normal, and most streams in the southern half of the state are in fair to good condition.

Best fishing in the state will probably be found in the island area of Lake Erie. Perch are being taken around most of the islands. Small mouth bass are being taken in the area.

Some white bass are being taken around Starve Island, Ballast Island and Green Island. Walleyes are being caught around Kelleys Island, Innis Reef and West Reef.

Head, Knee Hurts Top Football List

COLUMBUS (AP)—Damage to the head and knee are the most frequent football injuries and the leading cause of disablement among players, an Ohio State University doctor says.

Dr. Richard Patton, assistant physician for the Buckeye football team, said most injuries are just a bump on the head or a bruised knee. Yet these areas are also the most likely to be permanently damaged, he added.

In recent years, Dr. Patton said, nine Ohio State football players have been dropped from the squad because of injuries. Six of the nine were dropped because of head or knee injuries, Dr. Patton said.

On the Japanese island of Kyushu, it is necessary for miners to pump out 53 tons of water for every ton of coal brought up.

4 Former Lions Now on Quaker Grid Squad

Two former Lions of Washington C. H. High School probably will start in the opening game of the Wilmington College football season Saturday night when the Quakers meet the Centre College team at Danville, Ky.

Roger Mickle is slated to get the call for left halfback and Jim Cunningham has been tabbed for center.

Two other former Lions are on the Quaker squad, and probably will see plenty of action before the season is over. They are Russ Whited, a tackle, and Lyle Self, an end.

Whited, who entered college after a hitch in the Army, is returning to football after a lapse of several years and is being counted on to bolster the defensive line. He is a former commander of the American Legion post here.

Self, who won his Wilmington College letter last year, is a junior, but did not report for football at the start of practice. He is expected to be back at his old post before the season is far advanced.

Mickle won his letter last year, but Cunningham will be playing as a varsity regular for the first time.

One of their team mates is a old foe of high school days, Howard Hetzler, a former Greenfield Tiger, will probably be at the kickoff Saturday night.

Next Saturday, the Quakers will go to Ohio Northern University at Ada for their first Mid-Ohio League game.

The Quakers have opened their season with Centre College for the last four years and have lost all of them. This year, however, Wilmington College will field a team leaded with veterans; Eighteen of the 36-player squad saw action last year and 13 won their varsity letters.

Bear '11' Favored To Trounce Browns

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears are favored by seven points to win their fourth straight exhibition game when they meet the Cleveland Browns here tonight.

Coach Paul Brown, who doesn't take exhibition games too seriously, may be more interested in watching his quarterbacks perform than in winning.

"We'll start Tommy O'Connell," said Brown, "but I'd like to have another look at all the passers."

That means Milt Plum and John Borton will get into the game, as well as Jim Haluska, who spent last season with the Bears.

Tebbetts to Send His Lefthanders Against Cardinals

CINCINNATI (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts says he plans to lead with his lefthanders in the first two of three important games with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Tebbetts nominated Don Gross to start tonight's game.

Southpaw Joe Nuxhall is earmarked for Saturday afternoon and Brooks Lawrence is booked for Sunday.

The importance of the series to both teams is plain. A sweep by Cincinnati would virtually scotch the chances of second place St. Louis to catch league-leading Milwaukee's Braves.

A three-game streak by the Cards would well-nigh obliterate Redleg possibilities of annexing the league's third place.

Bloomington PTO Makes Halloween Carnival Plans

Plans for the annual Halloween Carnival Oct. 26 were outlined by the Bloomington Parent-Teacher Organization at its first meeting of the new school year Thursday night.

The new officers were in their places at this meeting for the first time when the business session was called to order by the president, Jess Schlichter. Other officers are Charles Andrews, vice president; Mrs. Roy Hagler, secretary; Mrs. J. Roush Burton, treasurer, and Mrs. Elmer Haymaker, news reporter.

During the business session, the PTO voted to transfer some of the playground equipment from the Presbyterian Church ground to the Marion School, where the Bloomington third graders now attend classes, and some to the Bloomington school. The equipment was bought by the PTO last year and set up at the church when overflow classes were held there.

The regular meeting night was changed from the third Thursday to the first Wednesday of each month.

Principal Gilbert H. Biddle introduced the teachers and told the PTO members two new courses have been added to the high school curriculum this year. They are driver training and general mathematics.

THE COMMITTEE that will plan the carnival is made up of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Noble, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haymaker; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCoy; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Sheline; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stoops; Mr. and Mrs. Adam Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Bloomer; Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon; Mr. and Mrs. James Hagler; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hagler; Mrs. Charles Andrews.

One of the new features of the carnival will be a one-act play by members of the PTO.

Biddle was in charge of the entertainment program which followed the business meeting. It included a vocal solo by Rebecca Haisheek; a dance by Roseann Knisley; a talk on pork by Gloria Cleland, queen of the Ohio Pork Producers Assn. picnic here last Saturday; two numbers by the Craig Instrumental Trio, and a dance by Ann Evans. All of the entertainers are students.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jess Schlichter and Mrs. Darrell Coil.

NEXT MONTH'S committees are entertainment, Mrs. Charles Cunningham and Mrs. Donald Mossbarger and refreshments, John Cannon, Adam Davis, Rex Bloomer and Lewis Redd.

Room mothers also were named at the meeting. They are, first grade, Mrs. James Hagler, Mrs. Donald Cooper, Mrs. J. Willis Dick, Mrs. Adam Davis, Mrs. Ralph Strahler; second grade, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Roy Hagler, Mrs. Charles McCoy, Mrs. Robert Browning, Mrs. Clarence Runnels, Mrs. Joe Fortier; (third grade at Marion School); fourth grade, Mrs. Jess Schlichter, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Mrs. Lewis Redd, Mrs. Jack Sollars, Mrs. Donald Waiston, Mrs. Dennis Welsh, Mrs. Robert Dunn, Mrs. Raymond Grim, Mrs. Rex Bloomer and Mrs. Charles Andrews (two fourth grade rooms) and fifth grade, Mrs. Pearl Rhoades, Mrs. Vernol Huff, Mrs. Donald Mossbarger, Mrs. Mary Vincent, Mrs. Carl Scott and Mrs. John Cannon.

Good Hope Lions Hear 4 Reports

Movies Shown after Business Meeting

Reports on completion of two of its major projects last month and a review of two carried out during the summer featured Thursday night's meeting of the Good Hope Lions Club.

Russell McCoy, chairman of the finance committee, told the club a check for the $225 college scholarship has been sent to Miss Nancy Sollars and that $100 has been given to the Fayette County Council for Retarded Children for its school.

Miss Sollars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Sollars, was awarded the scholarship the club had offered at the start of school a year ago for scholastic achievement.

Earl Rea reviewed the baseball program for boys of Little League age in which the club participated and sponsored a team. Russell Hatfield told the club about the Babe Ruth League, which included a team it sponsored.

The meeting in the Town Hall was preceded by a dinner at 7:30 p. m. The secretary reported 82 per cent attendance.

Following the business meeting, Ray Brandenburg showed movies he had made during his trip last summer to the islands of the Caribbean.

Boy's Eyesight May Be Saved In Lye-Burning

NEW YORK (AP)—A specialist says he is hopeful of saving the sight of 16-year-old David Ozersky, partially blinded by liquid lye tossed into a Brooklyn high school classroom Thursday.

Ozersky's assailant, Maurice Kessler, 17, a fellow student, is scheduled for arraignment today for felonious assault.

In St. Clare's Hospital Thursday night, Dr. Loren P. Guy expressed optimism about ultimate restoration of the youth's sight, but said it would be 10 days to two weeks before the full extent of damage would be known.

As of Thursday night, Guy said, Ozersky had some vision. He was suffering from lye burns of the eyes, face, neck and back.

Police termed the attack by Kessler as a revenge attack. Kessler had been free in $1,000 bail pending trial on a morals charge brought last summer by Ozersky.

Thursday, Ozersky was sitting in a history classroom at Thomas Jefferson High School when a back door opened and a youth hurled a beer bottle full of lye. Another boy was badly burned, and 18 other students and a teacher suffered burns from the splattering of the searing liquid after it shattered on the floor.

Two Are Fined On DWI Counts

Both Draw 3-Day Jail Sentences

Two drunken driving charges topped the traffic docket in Municipal Court Friday.

John Howard Robinson, 44, of Versailles, Ky., and William DeSmith, Jr., 28, of Leesburg, were fined $200 each, sentenced to three days in jail, and had their Ohio driving rights suspended for a year.

Smith, who pleaded guilty, was arrested about 11:15 p. m. Wednesday on Route 62 south. Robinson, who entered a plea of not guilty and was found guilty by the court, was arrested at 4:20 p. m. Wednesday on W. Court St.

FINED $50 and costs for driving without an operator's license was McGinnis Kuhn, 50, of Crooksville, who pleaded guilty.

Pleading not guilty to running a red light was Hugh H. Schwartz, 63, of Route 22, near New Holland, who was found guilty and fined $5 and costs, with the fine suspended.

Forfeiting bond for non-appearance on traffic charges were:

Charles Amann, 57, Cincinnati, speeding, $20;

J. Waddell Watson, 38, Pontiac, Mich., running a red light, $15;

Alfred Sneed, 27, Athens, Tenn., making excessive noise with a truck, $20.

Milk Dispute Spreads to 2 New Cities

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A milk producers strike that began in the Athens, Ohio, area earlier this week spread to Huntington, W. Va., and Ashland, Ky., Thursday night. Milk deliveries were continuing.

The Huntington Interstate Milk Producers Assn. said it had set up picket lines at four distribution plants in the two cities. Picketets were removed later from one of the plants, however, on the intervention of an unidentified third party although no agreement had been reached.

It was reported, in addition, that pickets were being withdrawn in all of the area except for one plant here.

The association is asking an average price of $5.20 per hundredweight in the 11-month period beginning Oct. 1. This is 26 cents above the present year-around average and 27 cents below the peak price paid in 1953.

Paul S. Oshel, manager of the association, said 725 farmer producers have withdrawn milk from the Huntington-Ashland market.

2 Ohio Airmen Held In Korea Shooting

SEOUL (AP)—The U. N. Command today identified two U. S. airmen involved in the wounding of two Korean girls at Kunsan Sunday. They are Airman 3c Carroll B. Taylor, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Airman Basic Edward Young, Route 1, Chilo, Ohio.

Both are being held pending outcome of an investigation, a command spokesman said. The Air Force said the men were guarding a bomb dump and fired into the air when a group of Koreans disregarded orders to halt.

The South Korean government will protest the shooting.

Montana City Gets 14-Inch Snowfall

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Subfreezing temperatures gripped parts of the Rocky Mountain area today in the wake of one of the heaviest snowfalls in Helena's history.

Nearly 14 inches fell during a 24-hour period ended Thursday. A transient laborer was frozen to death as the blizzard snarled traffic and disrupted communications.

The body of Stephen Hat, about 50, Crawford, Neb., was found Thursday at Spokane, Wash., in an open railroad car that had crossed the Montana Rockies.

Frost warnings were out as far south as Denver.

Teenage Golf Stars 'Wow' Ike on Links

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Two teenage Rhode Island golfers today outdrove a chagrined President Eisenhower by more than 30 yards off the first tee.

"Wowie," the President exclaimed at the start of the match at the Newport Country Club. "It's going to be bad for us."

On the first nine holes Eisenhower and the club pro, Norman Palmer were matched against 17-year-old Robert Fitta, winner of the Rhode Island Junior Chamber of Commerce Tournament this year, and Gary Letiecq, 15, the runnerup.

Fitta and Letiecq and two other finalists in that tournament, Robert Dalessio, 17, and William McGuinness, 17, had hoped to caddy for the President.

Eisenhower thanked them for the offer, but suggested that instead they play a round with him. The President arranged to play the second nine holes today with Dalessio and McGuinness.

Eisenhower was first off the tee and he belted his first two drives into a sand trap less than 200 yards off the fairway.

He then tried a third, but it also was short.

Palmer whacked one long and far down the middle, then young Letiecq stepped up. His drive traveled about 240 yards down the middle. Fitta stepped up to the tee and also got off a good drive of close to 250 yards.

Judge Collapses At Plow Contest

PEEBLES (AP)—Common Pleas Judge J. W. Lang Jr. of Adams County collapsed today while making an announcement on the speakers' platform at the World's Plowing contest.

Judge Lang, 51, was introducing a program by the Army band. He was taken to the Adams County Hospital in West Union and contest officials here said he apparently had suffered a heart attack.

The judge is program chairman for the plowing contest.

Anti-Communists Set Up Government in San Marino

SAN MARINO (AP)—Anti-Communists in this tiny republic today set up their own government to oppose the Communist regime that has ruled since the end of World War II.

The post card country was dividing into two camps in a first-class political battle that erupted into fistfights Thursday night.

Today things were quiet. The Communist regime held the government palace. The Communists dissolved Parliament, where they had lost their majority because of defections, and called for new elections Nov. 3.

The non-Communists planned to move their government into another building. They said they would not agree to new elections and would fight the dissolving of Parliament.

Prof. Federico Bigli, a pudgy 37-year-old lawyer and school teacher, seemed to be the head of the non-Communists, who created a five-man executive committee to rule San Marino.

"But I cannot tell you who the five are," he told newsmen. "Our silence is for security. They might be arrested by the Communist government on charges of trying to overthrow the government."

While Bigli was meeting newsmen at the headquarters of the local Christian Democrat party, the Communist government maintained silence within the walls of the guarded government palace.

Outside the palace was a guard of 15 soldiers and militiamen.

Here is a 38-square mile country, perched on a hill overlooking the north Adriatic and surrounded by Italian territory.

In the crisis a 50-man army supporting the government, has called up the reserves—100 additional soldiers.

Fistfights erupted when soldiers turned anti-Communist members away from the Parliament building. The clashes in the village square were confined to blows from fists and feet. Witnesses said no one was injured seriously.

Lawyers Walk Out

Today's case is a test by the U. S. government over a state government's authority concerning integration in public schools.

It is a landmark case in the whole great struggle over civil rights.

In one sense, it is the federal government versus Faubus who on the night of Sept. 2, sent National Guardsmen to Central High School in Little Rock to turn away Negroes who tried to enroll.

But in a broader sense, the issue involves a story as old as the Republic itself—the line of demarcation between federal and state authority.

The issue is clear and simple.

Did Faubus make illegal use of the National Guard? Did he violate the constitutional rights of the students?

Or did his mandate to maintain peace and order in the state give him the right to use the guardsmen on such a mission?

Technically, the lawsuit is over the government's petition for injunctions against Faubus, ordering him to stop interfering with the integration of the high school.

THE CORE of the case is the question: Was there genuine danger that violence would break out if the Negroes—10 students who had been screened and otherwise tested by the Little Rock Board of Education—enrolled in the high school and sat down in classrooms beside the white students?

Faubus insists that he received warnings, with detailed information, that there was danger.

The government, using FBI agents, is reported to have checked the points of this same information, and to have gathered other evidence. A 400-page FBI report is ready for use in court.

Judge Davies, a Fargo, N. D., is a sharp-eyed, watchful man, 3 feet 11 tall. He is a stern courtroom disciplinarian.

It is believed almost certain he will grant the injunction ordering Faubus to discontinue interfering with the integration of the high school.

The Arkansas Democrat said Faubus will then appeal to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals and will carry the fight on to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Newport, R. I., said he was "deeply disappointed" that no voluntary progress toward school integration was made at Little Rock this week.

Basic Industry Spokesmen Eye 1958 Situation

Business Condition
Predictions Vary Widely, Survey Shows

By SAM DAYSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market may fidget while waiting to get a clearer view of what's ahead for business. But at least some spokesmen for basic industries are willing today to stick their necks out with predictions for the rest of this year and for next year.

The forecasts range from "1958 will be a 'rough year,' a period between peaks of growth of demand" to "the short range view for business is good; the medium term view is better, and the long term view is the best that any nation has ever been privileged to anticipate."

The spokesmen talking what's ahead for their industries are executives in steel, oil, chemicals, nonferrous metal, food, machine tools and farm equipment companies.

John L. McCaffrey, International Harvester chairman, sees continued improvement in his line in 1958, largely because "1958 cash farm income will probably be somewhat larger than in 1957."

He is one of the more optimistic of the farm equipment manufacturers who gathered in Chicago. Many of the others see next year's sales much like 1957. They look for better sales in the remaining months of this year, which they predict will top last year by from 5 to 15 per cent.

At a marketing conference today in New York, sponsored by the National Industrial Conference Board, other industry leaders are forecasting.

A Republic Steel vice president, Norman W. Foy, is the one with the "good, better, best" forecast for business in general. He sees a selling job ahead but looks for "a modest upturn in late 1957 and 1958."

The one who thinks 1958 will be a rough year in his industry is B. L. Ray, vice president of Esso. He notes that the annual rate of growth in domestic demand for oil was 6 per cent until 1955. But this year's final figure, he predicts, will be 3.2 per cent over last year, and next year will drop to a 2.1 per cent growth over this.

Looking farther ahead, Malcolm Murdock, vice president of Ethyl Corp., sees an average annual gain of 3.9 per cent in the 1959-61 period.

Charles H. Winship Jr., general sales manager for Phelps Dodge, sees plentiful supplies of copper, lead and zinc between now and 1960, but a better supply and demand balance and less feverish ups and downs in prices.

John O. Logan, an Olin Mathieson Chemical vice president, looks for a 5 per cent rise in total dollar sales of chemicals and allied products in 1958.

Paul Mayfield, Hercules Powder vice president, expects an average annual gain of 7 per cent by the chemical industry from 1958 through 1961.

C. M. Beach, Cincinnati milling and grinding machines vice president, thinks industry spending for capital equipment will stay high in the next 12 months. The machine tool industry's big bet, he says, is that about 70 per cent of the tools now in use are at least 10 years old and need replacing.

Hospital Board

but is becoming a normal practice. What would happen if a real disaster would strike, is not pleasant to contemplate. And while the room shortage is purely mentioned because it is something anyone can see, it is certainly only one of many needs that have become evident as we have progressed.

"At this time the addition of more rooms without other facilities to supplement them is not the answer. Practically every department is outgrown and needs to be expanded. To say that the proposed plan will take care of our needs for the next 10 years is little better than a guess. It appears obvious however, that between now and the time the proposed addition can be built and ready for occupancy there will be many times when the present facilities will be sorely taxed, perhaps beyond capacity."

"THERE IS no escaping the fact that the public acceptance and approval of our hospital by the people in outlying areas extending to neighboring counties, has made this expansion necessary somewhat sooner than might otherwise be the case. This very fact however, practically assures us that we will attract more specialists and extra services to our hospital than we otherwise would have had. This in turn should help even further to save our citizens the necessity of going to other city hospitals."

"We hear the question asked repeatedly 'What did we do before we had a hospital?' We believe the answer to this is that we depended on other hospitals, as many of these people now depend on ours. Thinking people, we believe, will see that there is no place to draw a line as to what person should enter our hospital and which ones should be refused admittance. Rather let us take satisfaction from the fact that our doors are closed to none."

"ALONG WITH the building program we are asking support for an operating levy. Various board members now serving or who have served since the hospital opened are rightly proud of the record they made in operating the hospital without the need of a special operating levy. For us to try to do this any longer, however, would be a seriously questionable procedure, a course which we believe is not

"This group represents thinking men and women from all parts of the county. The board wishes to sincerely thank this group and invites it to join the other voters in Fayette County in giving its continued interest and support to our hospital."

Municipal League Takes Air Base Tour

in line with the proper management of your hospital.

"Most other county and municipal hospitals, not only in Ohio but in other states have such levies, some from the times they were opened for service. The reason for the need of this levy is not hard to determine when the facts are before you. In the first place the maintenance, upkeep and replacement of worn out and outmoded equipment, is a large factor.

It is especially true of hospital equipment that improvements and changes come rapidly and are expensive, yet they must be provided to keep step with progress and public demand.

"Increased costs of all services and supplies we buy is another factor, in this period of inflation. When the malfunctioning of a piece of important equipment can cost a life we believe that it is not the place to save a few dollars. We have been proud of the high class equipment and service afforded at our hospital and would like to promise the same high standards in the future."

"THE MEMBERS of the medical staff, the board of trustees and the administrator would welcome the opportunity to discuss with any person or group any phase of this program. We believe it to be in keeping with orderly growth of our community."

"In arriving at the decision to present this program to the voters at this time, we have been guided by the counsel of the advisory group which has met with us at the hospital several times."

"This group represents thinking men and women from all parts of the county. The board wishes to sincerely thank this group and invites it to join the other voters in Fayette County in giving its continued interest and support to our hospital."

WHS News Briefs

By-Lines

By RON COFFMAN

Now that the back-to-school rush has somewhat subsided, life at WHS is a little less hectic for both teachers and students. The vocal music program, rather dormant for the last few years, seems to be coming alive under the guiding hand of its new director, Mr. Grover Baber. . . . Vocal music organizations are: Junior High Girls Glee Club; Junior High Mixed Chorus; High School Choir; Mixed Ensemble, and the Male Chorus, a new organization. . . . Mr. Baber expressed the feeling that there is a great deal of potential talent in these groups. An accomplished musician, himself, the new director sang the lead in many musicals at Ohio State where he was president of the men's glee club.

MANY of Miss Trent's typing students have taken to wearing glasses after trying to read their copy for 40 minutes straight.

IN STUDENT COUNCIL Wednesday morning, the chapel program for the year was set up. It will consist of a chapel assembly in the auditorium every other Monday and a short program over the PA system three times per week. The Hi-Y Club will sponsor these programs the next two weeks and other clubs will be invited to take the sponsorship for a period of two weeks each after that.

SENIORS are busy having their pictures taken for the Sunburst and for friends.

THE HI-Y CLUB started their year off by sponsoring a 'Welcome Back to School' sock hop, helping senior high students to renew old friendships and the freshmen to make new ones. The Hi-Y Club will have an elaborate induction ceremony Saturday afternoon and evening at Camp Pine. We will have a complete report on that next week.

AFTER MAKING a survey of the student body of WHS, we find that the two top tunes of the week are (1) "Tammy" and (2) "Fascination".

SEVERAL MEMBERS of last year's reserve basketball team already are practicing nightly at the city park, hoping for a spot on the varsity.

THE VARSITY cheerleaders Jan Enrick, captain; Jeanie Conaway, Mariane Mouser, and Helen Brown . . . and the reserve cheerleaders Eileen Picklesimer, Janice Brown, Pat Benson, Connie Hunter and Nancy Underwood—held a big pep rally in the gym Friday afternoon in preparation for the game here Friday night with Xenia Central.

THE MAJORETTES participated by twirling while the band played. This was the first time this has been tried and it was a big success.

THE BAND after missing an "away" game for the first time in several years last week, has really been putting forth effort in order to make the home opener tonight a truly great spectacle for the many fans who are expected

Totals '56 Outlay

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rockefeller Foundation says it spent $30,075,305 in 1956—a record amount in any single year since the foundation's inception in 1913.

Dean Rusk, president of the foundation, said Thursday income last year was $22,352,496. Last year's appropriation, he said, reflected a decision to use a portion of capital funds to support an expanded program in Latin America, Asia, the Middle East and Africa. Since the foundation was established, Rusk said, appropriations total $565,456,662.

Airliner Pilot Dies, But Plane Lands OK

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A North-west Airlines DC6B with 62 passengers aboard landed safely at Madison Thursday after the pilot died while the plane was in the air.

The airliner was en route from Minneapolis to Chicago when the plane commander, Capt. Alfred H. Lohmar, 51, was stricken, apparently by a heart attack.

First Officer Arthur J. Steadman Jr., 33, of Farmington, Minn., took over the big plane and brought it in to a safe landing.

Ohio Insurance Firm Pondering Merger

CINCINNATI (AP)—President W. C. Safford of Western & Southern Life Insurance Co. says his firm seeks a merger with Guaranty Union Life Insurance Co. of Beverly Hills, Calif. Safford said Thursday that talks are currently in progress with the California firm, which has assets of $10 million and insurance in force of $109 million. Western & Southern has $785 million in assets and $3.7 billion worth of insurance in force.

Ohio's State Tax Total Is Set at $677 Million

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio collected $677 million in state taxes in the fiscal year which ended June 30. The Commerce Clearing House said it was part of $14.4 billion in taxes collected by the 48 states, $1 billion more than ever before. The average state tax burden for every man, woman and child was $86.75, or $5.15 above the 1956 record high.

Another Question Arousing Much Argument

A Washington C. H. business man was heard to remark recently that he was able to obtain more capable women to work in his place than men; he employs a number of each.

Maybe he is an exception but in further commenting on the subject he said that the man who persists in the belief that "woman's place is in the home," and preferably the kitchen, should look about more often to see what is going on outside the homes.

It is easy to arouse quite an argument on this subject. There are many who openly declare numerous women are doing work which a man should do, thus cutting down on the number of jobs available which many men, as heads of their families, could well handle. They contend that this is especially true when wives have small children who deserve more home attention.

At the same time many of both sexes insist that there is ample room for women in business positions; that they are just as capable and often more dependable on the average. This is questioned by many others.

A rather surprising development, according to information given out by the National Manpower Council, is the increasingly steady departure of women from the home to accept positions. The Council's study and survey of this situation reveals that:

"One - third of all women 14 years old and over are now in the labor force in any given month.

"More than two - fifths work in the course of a year—about 28,000,000 women.

"Women will account for at least half of the ten million persons expected to join the labor force between 1957 and 1958.

"One - fifth of the nation's $42,000,000,000 wage and salary income is earned by women.

"Three out of every ten married women are working, as are two out of every five mothers with school - age children.

"Six out of every ten working women are married, as are two out of every five mothers with school - age children.

"Since 1950 the largest source of new workers in the labor force has been women in their middle and later years."

If we may be forgiven for scrambling metaphors, we'd say: "The hand that rocks the cradle has a great many irons in the fire."

However, it could be mentioned, that today's inflationary costs of living has created a situation where many women have to work to help keep up a family's normal standard of living.

Scraper and Felicia at Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone has his favorite cat-and-dog story, and mine is the tale of Felicia and Scraper.

Scraper was a friendly but tough airedale who bossed everything on four feet in the suburban neighborhood where he dwelt. He did, that is, until the lady of the house accepted as a gift a fullgrown Siamese cat named Felicia.

"You're making a mistake," warned the master of the house. "You know Scraper can't stand cats. He'll make mincemeat of Felicia in five minutes."

"We'll see," replied the lady of the house serenely.

Scraper was across the yard when Felicia arrived. At sight of her he let out a high, excited yelp. Then, a cavalryman at heart, he charged.

Felicia, staring at him silently with Mediterranean eyes, waited calmly, a citadel in fur. When Scraper was within reach, she sniffed him on the nose twice with her left paw, and followed with three deadly rights.

The next instant she was on his back, raking his head and neck with razor claws. The next instant she was under him, raking his belly with all deliberate speed.

Scraper, bleeding, drew off in surprise from this feline tornado. He had learned the tactical error of Pickett at Gettysburg.

He wasn't afraid. There was no room in his lion heart for fear. But he knew he had to find another way. He had to catch Felicia off guard.

So he began to stalk her, methodically, inexorably, hate in his canine soul. This cat had wounded his terrier pride. She must pay, if it took a lifetime.

He stalked her by day and by night. He stalked her on a seven-day-a-week schedule, winter and summer and he never took a holiday. And he never caught Felicia off guard, never reached that "moment of truth" when he could move in and finish her off.

After three years of this war of nerves, Felicia, who up until then had enjoyed it as a game, apparently decided the time had come to end it. On a Sunday she walked to the edge of the yard, which bordered a busy highway. She stared at the traffic thoughtfully for a long time, and then turned and gazed thoughtfully at Scraper, who was warily watching her.

Felicia, her mind made up, waited for a break in the traffic, then leisurely crossed the highway. She paused, looked back at Scraper, then slowly and deliberately lay down in the grass, and rolled over as if asleep.

Temporarily beyond caution, Scraper raced madly out on the highway. There was a screeching of brakes—a yelp, then stillness. The master of the house, who had been a spectator to the scene, rushed out and picked up Scraper. The dog bit his hand gently, looked around wildly for Felicia, then his taut body relaxed in eternal languor.

"That cat deliberately lured him to his destruction," the master of the house said later.

"Perhaps," said the lady of the house, who, despite her sorrow over Scraper, couldn't restrain a small feeling of womanly pride in Felicia.

The kids buried Scraper in the back yard with full military honors and the beating of a tin-pail drum. They tossed bright yellow dandelions in his grave and two big steaks, and over it erected a cross made from an orange crate and wrote on it this epitaph:

"To the Scraper, a Brave dog."

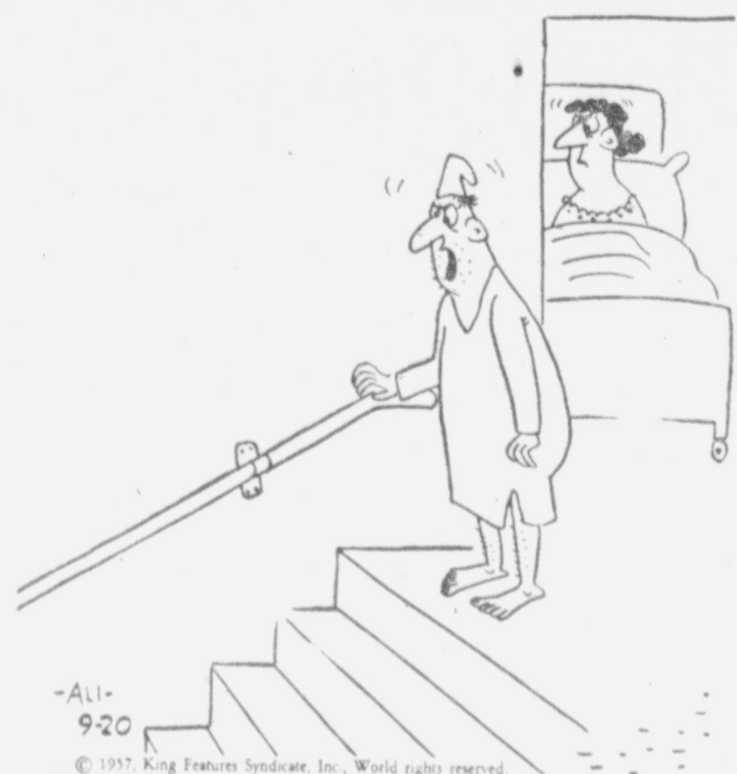

On warm afternoons Felicia used to like to lie on the grave, scratch in the dirt and sun herself lazily. One afternoon, two years later, the children found her there, calmly dead. So far as any could discover she was a victim of old age and lack of exercise.

They buried her next to the Scraper after another grand mournful funeral and inscribed this epitaph, composed by the lady of the house: "To Felicia, a Smart Cat."

Side by side they sleep, the Scraper and Felicia, beyond enmity.

Diet and Health Get Hearing Aid For Deaf Child

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Selecting the best hearing aid for a child who is hard of hearing can be a specialist's problem. Should an ear specialist prescribe such a device for your youngster, you'll find you have any number of different models from which to choose.

More than 50 American firms manufacture hearing aids. Each one produces from one to six models. And new models are appearing constantly.

Most generally used are air-conduction aids which require a well-fitted ear piece in the external ear canal. Bone-conduction aids are sometimes prescribed, but are not nearly as common. This type has a receiver which is held in place over the mastoid bone.

But, no matter which type is best in your particular case, any hearing aid should provide these basic requirements: a definite sound amplification, a realistic sound reproduction, sensitivity to speech frequencies, comfort, convenience and wearability.

Don't select any hearing aid without getting it approved by your own doctor. He will check the instruments as to the specific types of hearing loss they were designed to benefit and he will also determine their particular characteristics.

Finally, have your doctor give the instrument you select an audiologic evaluation. If it passes this test, then this probably is the best hearing aid for your youngster.

Once your doctor prescribes an aid, I suggest you obtain it as soon as possible. You don't want to deprive the child of this wonderful world of sound any longer than necessary.

While some children just can't seem to adjust to aids satisfactorily, and don't really get any benefit from them, most youngsters who are hard of hearing are greatly helped.

The age of the child doesn't matter much. Some hearing aids are prescribed for babies as young as one year. And you'd be surprised at the number of two- and four-year-olds who use them.

The main thing is to discover any hearing defect your child might have and then correct it.

The sum paid by the antique dealer for the Methwold hoosegow was 14 cents. More remarkable than the price is how the town arrived at that figure.

much not to recognize the frightful human loss and the social cost in the present neglect of teachers.

I always think back to a visit to Nanking University, in China, a place of great beauty, with my old teacher, Prof. Charles A. Beard.

After looking at all the magnificence, he asked the president about the salaries of the teachers. When he was told the shocking story, he said, "Millions for bricks; pennies for brains."

This country faces the frightful problem of illiterate ignorance. It is nothing that can be shunted off by phrases because the reality of it is upon us in widespread juvenile delinquency, in the shortage of adequately trained officers of help in shortages in all the intellectual disciplines, in the failure of the most capable minds to man public offices, in the degeneration of all forms of intellectual and spiritual leadership.

This condition is upon us and represents failures we should have noted in the 1920's of which this generation is the product.

North American Co. To Lay Off 500 More

COLUMBUS (AP)—Another 500 employees at North American Aviation, Inc., here will be laid off beginning next week, the company announced.

About 2,500 workers have been laid off since early summer, and an additional 500 will be dropped before the end of the year, the company said.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fabulous Gov. Faubus has lost a chance to gain $4 so far in his fight with the federal government.

Events today will go far toward determining how much else he may lose—or gain.

Let's take this situation in chronological order:

The governor of Arkansas went to Newport, R.I., last Saturday and promised President Eisenhower he would obey the law and "valid court orders." Faubus was talking, of course, about the Supreme Court's school integration decree and court orders stemming from it.

Thursday he had his first chance to show what that promise meant to him. A federal court had summoned him to appear as a witness in connection with another civil rights case. Faubus didn't show. He sent back the $4 witness fee tendered him in advance, and said that as governor he was not compelled to comply with a subpoena.

In other words, the governor was reserving the right to decide for himself whether a federal order applied to him or not.

This case was only a preliminary, of course. The main bout comes today before Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota. Faubus complained that Davies is "biased and prejudiced" against him. The judge is about to rule whether Faubus must remove National Guard troops from Little Rock Central High School.

Nobody doubts the judge will say: Pull out those troops at once, and let integration proceed. Integration, in this case, means letting nine Negro pupils go to school at Central High.

Faubus was asked if he'd obey the judge's order to appear in court today.

"You just wait and see," was his reply.

Then he was asked if he would withdraw the militiamen.

"I don't know," replied the governor.

This doesn't seem at first glance—or even second—or third—like all-out compliance with Faubus' pledge to the President.

What probably will happen is that he will withdraw the troops—by Monday morning, chances are—and then take his case to higher courts.

As to what Faubus stands to gain or lose—apart from the $4—there seem to be two main possibilities:

1. Delay. He has agreed to accept integration—in time—if federal officials will be patient. Eisenhower certainly was patient with him. The President gave him every opportunity—some say entirely too much opportunity—to climb down off his limb.

2. Political capital. Unquestionably Faubus has endeared himself to a number of all-out segregationists, just as he has exasperated large numbers of believers in law and order. What the effect will be on Faubus' political future is a question. It is not even sure he intends a political future. Asked if he plans to run for a third term he gives a familiar answer: "I don't know."

One thing Faubus has accomplished, he has brought Little Rock to the attention of the whole world, from Newport to Moscow, as the Arkansas Gazette wincingly noted in an editorial earlier this week.

"Only in India," the newspaper said, "a land of the most patient of people, has there been a suggestion that this crisis will pass and that racial harmony will eventually prevail."

"This came from the Hindustan Standard and we thank its editors for those kind—and, these days, rare—words."

J. H. Gilpin writes from Tacoma, Wash.:

"Our Tacoma City School Board is at present paying scale of $4,957.00 per year for the lowest grade of classroom teachers, amounting to $551.00 per month on the nine month schedule and we know that most teachers supplement annual income considerably through pleasant part time occupations during the three months vacation period. These rates are uniform and probably higher at different points along the Pacific coast."

My calculation based on these figures is that this lowest grade teacher gets a gross pay of $95.23 a week on which a federal income tax, social security tax and whatever state taxes there are must be deducted. The income tax withholding alone would amount to at least $14.80 providing a take - home pay, without deducting social security or state taxes, at $80.53.

It is difficult to understand why any city has the right to assume that teachers always can and do supplement their salaries by outside work or calculate on a nine month employment.

It would be better for the children if the teachers, particularly in the lower grades, could devote a maximum of time to the children who at the tenderest years should be encouraged to love the school and its books. Many children are spoiled by cranky and tired teachers who "take it out on them."

Gilpin's proposal sounds to me much like that made by an early department store magnate who, paying his help an unbelievable minimum, suggested that they could supplement their income as ladies of the night.

Quite opposite to J. H. Gilpin's views are those of Charles Silver, president of the Board of Education of New York City, who wants the schools open afternoons and evenings, Saturdays and Sundays, and during the summer holidays, to provide playgrounds, play rooms, club rooms, reading rooms for young people to keep them off the streets. That plan is offered as an approach to the problem of juvenile delinquency. All cities have the plan for such enterprises, but if teachers are to supplement their pay as waiters in restaurants or some such business, they will not be available for additional work with children in the schools.

The real trouble is that while we all are troubled by the problem not only of juvenile delinquency but also of inadequate preparation for life, few are willing to recognize that every solution costs something. If our children are to be trained by suitable teachers, teaching as a profession must be made attractive both financially and in the dignity of the position.

Gilpin was wrought up over my insistence that teachers are underpaid. So, he telephoned the local office of the Teamsters Union and found that their hiring-in-rate is $2.22 per hour, while he finds that teachers' lowest hourly rate is approximately $2.50 an hour. Does he include the correction of tests; the reading of juvenile essays beginning with "How I Spent My Summer Vacation"? If so, he might and a few hours a day for which the teacher is not paid at all. Does he include the hours that a competent teacher has to give to preparing for the day's work? If all the hours are added together, I fear little will be left of Mr. Gilpin's mathematics.

He ends his letter: "I hope that this brief message may change your perspective on the teacher's situation."

I fear not. I love children too

OKAZK FOLKLORE abounds in Vance Randolph's "The Talking Turtle." It concerns a fellow named Lissenbee who "was always blabbing things all over the town. He didn't tell no lies; he just told the truth, and that's what made it so bad."

One day a talking turtle stopped him on the road and declared, "Lissenbee, you talk too darn much." The startled gossip headed for the nearest tavern to holler, "I just seen a turtle what talks." Everybody hooted, but followed him to the place where the turtle rested.

Despite all Lissenbee's pleas, the turtle never said a word, and the crowd melted away in disgust. "Liss" sat mournfully muttering, "My reputation's ruined." The turtle nodded and said, "Didn't I tell you? You talk too darn much!"

College sophomore: "I adore you. May I call you by a less formal name than Miss Snodgrass?" Village Queen: "Okay, lad! Call me Snod, but get out there and cut the grass!"

Charges Filed In Teen-Age Drink Accident

Hearing Tuesday For Proprietor Of Ranch House

Two charges of serving intoxicants to a minor have been filed against Janet Paul, proprietor of the Ranch House restaurant, 750 W. Elm St., Prosecutor Rollo Marchant disclosed Friday.

Hearing has been set for Tuesday morning in Municipal Court. Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson, who filed the charges, said they result from related incidents the evening of Sept. 12, when two Washington C. H. teenagers were arrested for intoxication.

CITY POLICE arrested a 17-year-old boy on W. Elm St. about 8 p. m. on that day and Deputy Thompson arrested a 16-year-old at the Ranch House a few minutes later. Deputy Thompson said that, if he wins convictions on the double charge in Municipal Court, he will file a request with the Ohio Board of Liquor Control for suspension of the Ranch House beer permit.

A charge filed by Thompson with the liquor board earlier this year resulted in a 21-day suspension for the Ranch House for serving intoxicants to minors.

40-Hour Rites Planned at St. Colman's

Forty Hours' Devotion, commemorating the 40 hours the Body of Jesus was in the sepulchre, will start at St. Colman's Catholic Church here with 11 a. m. mass Sunday and continue until Tuesday evening devotions, Father Richard J. Connelly, pastor, said.

Begun in Milan in 1534, the devotion includes special indulgences initiated by Pope Clement VIII.

Father George Fulcher from St. Joseph Cathedral, Columbus, will speak at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, and Monsignor Harry S. Connelly, a brother of Father Connelly, from the same church will speak at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Speaker at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday will be Father James Krause, director of music for the Diocese of Columbus.

ALL ALTAR BOYS will join in a Sunday morning procession. Altar boys and all grade school children in the church will take part in a procession Tuesday evening.

Members of the Monsignor Buckley order of General Assembly, fourth degree Knights of Columbus from Springfield, will also take part in the Tuesday procession.

Priests from throughout the area who will take part in the closing exercise Tuesday include Monsignor Patrick Kilgallen and Fathers Anthony Becker, James Geiger, James Connelly, Charles Halusha and Robert Harwick of Columbus, Father William Connor of the Boys' Industrial School in Lancaster, Father Roland T. Winel of Lancaster, Father Edward F. Lauer of Greenfield and Father Ferdinand Fylus of Jamestown.

The reckless driving trial of Darrell Williams, 49, of 1125 N. North St., accused of driving the auto that hit a 6-year-old boy on O. Kland Ave. Aug. 16, has been continued until next Friday by Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court.

Williams, represented by an attorney, pleaded not guilty to the charge Friday.

The child, Terry Davis, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, 1025 Willard St., was hospitalized for about a month after the accident.

Burglars Get $5 At Candy Factory

About $5 in change was taken from a petty cash box at Art's Candy Manufacturing Co., 702 Millwood Ave., in a burglary Thursday night.

Police said a back screen had been cut some time after closing time at 5:30 p. m., and the cash taken from a box under a counter.

Employees discovered the break in when they came to work at 7 a. m. Friday, Mrs. Paul Arthur, wife of the proprietor, said.

contract with increase ranging from $2.50 to $5. The union says the 15-month pact is out, that it insists on a one-year contract, and that the one-year offer by Ohio Bell is inadequate.

In addition to general wage increases, the union sought certain adjustments of scales to reduce the amount of geographical differentials, longer rest periods, a shorter work day for operators, and fringe benefits, including pension and hospitalization gains.

In talks thus far, little bargaining was done on issues other than the general pay increase.

Fayette Grange Officers Elected

Frank Dill Chosen For New Master

Frank Dill will be the new master of Fayette Grange. He and the officers who will guide the Grange through the coming year were elected at Thursday night's meet in the hall on W. Elm St.

Chosen to serve with him were Walter Carman, overseer; Mrs. Emma Cunningham, lecturer; Robert Haines, steward; Osman King, assistant steward; Mrs. Jane Dill, chaplain; Mrs. Lucile Griffith, treasurer; Mrs. Doris Dittendal, secretary; Gene Juillerat, gatekeeper; Miss Linda Haines, Ceres; Miss Carolyn Dill, Pomona; Miss Donna Dill, Flora, and Miss Carol King, lady assistant steward.

Roy Coil was elected to the executive committee.

Because most of the meeting was devoted to the election, other business of the session conducted by the retiring master, Oaman King, was held to a minimum and no program of entertainment was planned.

However, Paul Hurtt Jr. was elected to membership and Mrs. Madge Winter made a report on the dance at the community park sponsored by the Grange in August.

Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Martha Pfeifer were in charge of the potluck supper which preceded the meeting.

Jeffersonville PTC Group Approves Plans for New Year

Plans for a dinner Oct. 20 at the school were approved Thursday night when the Jeffersonville Parent-Teacher Committee held its first meeting.

The dinner is one of a number of projects outlined for the new year by Eugene Avey, chairman of the projects committee whose report was approved by the organization.

Also approved was a report by Russell Hall, chairman of the program committee. A talent show will be presented at the next meeting.

MRS. OWEN PRICE, the new president of the PTC group, opened the session after a program of organ music presented by Karl Kay.

An electric clock was presented to Hall, last year's president, in recognition of his services to the organization.

Following the introduction of new teachers, Principal Harry Phillips spoke briefly on the desirability of a better understanding among parents and teachers.

Damage Only Slight In Court St. Mishap

Damage was slight in an auto accident late Thursday morning on W. Court St. just west of Main.

Police said an auto driven by Fred Miles, 22, of 1012 Willard St., was hit in the rear by a car driven by John Darl Elcessor, 16, of 116 Forest St. The rear bumper and end panel of Miles' car were damaged.

Entire New Holland Board Interested in Merger Plan

All five members of the New Holland District Board of Education are interested in the possibilities of a merger of the New Holland district with Fayette County's Miami Trace district, Lowell Marvin, president of the New Holland board, told a Record-Herald representative Friday.

Marvin's comment came after George McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway County schools, was quoted in the Circleville Herald as saying that the New Holland board is not officially behind a move to transfer New Holland district territory to Miami Trace.

ACCORDING to the newspaper story, McDowell declared that the shift would be harmful to the New Holland district.

"It's too bad for them to become involved in the Fayette County School controversy. It should be avoided like the plague.

"Wise persons of New Holland will protect the district's bargaining power as regards future consolidation moves in Pickaway County. To split the district further would weaken the district. It is much more logical to work with the Pickaway County Board of Education."

But the board president pointed out that the New Holland district feels a close kinship with Fayette County in which 70 per cent of the district's area is located. At the same time Marvin pointed out that the district is drawn to Fayette

County because of the overall tax picture.

PETITIONS requesting the transfer probably will be circulated in the New Holland district next week. Seventy-five percent of the eligible voters must sign before the proposal can start through channels.

Ten residents of the New Holland district attended a regular meeting of the Miami Trace board Wednesday night to consider various aspects of a possible merger.

In the group were three New Holland board members.

The Miami Trace board has no powers with respect to territory transfers of this kind. Ultimate decision for acceptance of the New Holland district would rest with the Fayette County Board of Education.

Rose Ave. PTA To Meet Tuesday

Efforts are being made to get a full turnout for next Tuesday evening's meeting of the Rose Avenue School Parent-Teacher Assn. for two primary reasons: (1) it will be the first of the new school year and (2) Richard McMullen, the probation officer attached to the Probate Court, is to speak on a subject of vital interest to parents of school children.

The PTA officers who will be at the meeting in their official capacities for the first time are Mrs. Richard Whited, president; Mrs. Robert Harper, vice president; Mrs. Charles DeWitt, secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Blair, treasurer; Mrs. Thurman Coulter, news reporter, and Mrs. Richard Keller, chairman of room mothers. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

The teachers will be introduced either by Principal Hugh Rea or Mrs. Whited.

The officers are to serve refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

How do we read prescriptions?

According to some of our customers, prescriptions aren't written—they're doodles. Yet your pharmacist looks at the cryptic scribbles and calmly reaches for a bottle. The right bottle. Prescriptions are written in a special international language known to physicians and pharmacists... a kind of universal, standardized shorthand that's grammar- and penmanship-proof. It exists so any registered pharmacist anywhere can fill your prescription accurately. That's how we're always able to give you just the drug your physician prescribes, and why the directions are always correct. We are pleased to serve you whenever prescription medication is required.

VA Hospital Seeks To Train More 'Gray Lady' Volunteers

The Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital is looking for volunteers to train as Gray Ladies in the hospital assistant's orientation program, Sept. 24. Oct. 1 and Oct. 8.

The 14 Washington C. H. Gray Ladies, who have given a total of more than 2,000 hours of work to the VA hospital, spend an average of two days a month there to fulfill their agreements under the program.

Gray Ladies help with recreational programs give service in the craft shops, do typing and secretarial chores, and read and write letters for closed ward patients.

Willingness, sincerity, a business like approach to volunteer work, responsibility, dependability, tact, patience, congeniality, humility and a sense of humor are among the basic qualifications necessary.

PEOPLE with specialized skills in crafts, music, recreational activities or secretarial work are especially welcome.

Prospective volunteers are welcome to visit the hospital prior to orientation. Miss Evelyn Williams, director of volunteer activities, is coordinating the training program.

Mrs. William C. Bailey is chairman of the program here, and Mrs. J. E. Peters is vice chairman. Ten Washington C. H. volunteers have been with the program about a year, and four others about six months.

Freeway Job Bids Are Thrown Out

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways Thursday threw out all 11 bids on a 4.3 mile stretch of the Cincinnati-Connaut Freeway in Delaware County.

The bids were opened Tuesday and the J. A. Jones Co. of Charlotte, N. C., submitted the apparent low bid of $2,970,931. The department estimate for the work was $3,397,500.

A department spokesman said the Jones bid was "unbalanced." He explained that as meaning some individual portions of the total bid appeared out of line.

The project will be up for bids again Oct. 15. It begins one mile north of U. S. 36 mid-way between Alum Creek and Berkshire and runs to a point one mile south of the Morrow County line.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Hope that there is oil or gas or both under part of Fayette County has sprung anew with announcement that Kewanee Oil Co. which has 425,000 acres under lease in Fayette and adjoining counties, has no intention of abandoning the field without further exhaustive tests in the area under lease.

This fact comes to light by the company employing an outfit to make large numbers of geophysical tests in the county through drilling the shallow wells, exploding dynamite in them and recording vibrations extending to considerable depths, indicating what is under the vicinity in which the tests are made.

An official of the company announced soon after the second deep well had been completed, that no further wells would be drilled in Fayette County this year. But he said that further geophysical tests might be made.

Such tests were made a number of years ago in southern Fayette County, by an Oklahoma oil firm, presumably Kewanee, but no information as to results was released.

Some surprising results may come from the large number of tests holes that are to be drilled in this area, under present plans. Who knows but that next year may see the sinking of other deep wells in this area. It all depends upon results of the geophysical tests now being made.

A lot of us are still of the belief that gas and oil are to be found in and near Fayette County.

BLACKBIRD NUISANCE

Huge flocks of blackbirds and starlings are beginning to congregate in various parts of the county, and are proving a nuisance in places where they gather in trees by the thousand to spend the night.

Thousands of these birds have been roosting within the city, but may readily be put to flight by clapping two pieces of board or metal together.

One of the largest flocks in the county seems to like Paint Township, and they spend the days feeding in the fields and the nights in trees usually near farm houses. As a result, shotgun have been used to frighten the birds and keep them moving to other places.

Invariably during the latter part of September and well into October the big flocks of blackbirds and starlings congregate and become very annoying generally.

WOOLLY BEARS MOVING

Scores of times recently while driving about the county I have seen the "woolly bears," or

"woolly worms," hurring across the highways apparently hunting winter quarters.

Some of these worms are black and red, and others are yellow. The black and red worms are larvae of the Isabella moth and the yellow ones are larvae of the ermine moth.

One belief is that if more than half of the front part of the woolly bears is black, the first part of winter will be severe, and if the portion of black is small there will be little severe winter weather.

MAPLE GROVE HOTEL

When the Maple Grove Hotel property in Ross County sold for $1,500 some 20 years ago during work of liquidating the Ohio State Bank, it largely marked the end of a venture into which local residents poured tens of thousands of dollars, and so far as known, they received comparatively little in return.

M. S. Daugherty, banker, and others, including V. J. Dahl, were back of the project, and for some time the latter was manager of the big health resort in the hills seven miles east of Frankfort.

The hotel, a huge frame structure of three stories, was erected after samples of mineral water on the premises had shown marked medicinal qualities, somewhat similar to those of Sulphur Lick Hotel, a mile southeast of Maple Grove.

For some years Maple Grove Hotel drew a large patronage, largely from the Dayton area, and it became quite famous.

Then business started falling off and the hotel, which was on a 52 acre tract owned by the company, was closed.

It was vacant for many years, until finally the property, which originally had cost tens of thousands of dollars, was sold to F. J. Dalton of Shelby.

It was remodeled and greatly reduced in size. What was left of it is still standing, and used for a residence or apartments. I am informed.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Everett Jones and Walter Barnes were indicted for first degree murder in the killing of R. W. Lindsay, Jeffersonville restaurant keeper, who was shot to death while resisting a holdup July 4, 1937.

The automobile used by three men who held up the Farmers Bank at Good Hope was found in garage at Maysville, Ky., and officers were tracing ownership.

William McCoy, 91, for many years caretaker of the Masonic Temple building, died.

New U.S. Squadron Being Formed To Handle H-Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's long-range H-bombers soon will be reinforced by a new Air Force squadron equipped with intercontinental guided missiles.

The Air Force announced Wednesday its first Snark squadron, numbering 500 officers and men, is rounding out its training in California and will be on duty before the end of this year.

The Snark, essentially a pilotless bomber, is designed to carry a nuclear warhead 5,000 miles at about the speed of sound. This is much slower than the intercontinental ballistic missile.

But the Snark is expected to give the United States added long-range retaliatory capability while an ICBM is perfected.

Mrs. Stephenson Entertains ESA Chapter

The social meeting of Alpha Theta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was held at the home of Mrs. Lester Stephenson Wednesday evening.

The president, Mrs. Howard Burnett-Jr., opened the meeting. A letter was read from Mrs. June Ranney on behalf of the Council for Retarded Children, thanking the chapter for its contribution.

Mrs. Dwight Martin gave a report on the council meeting held at Lincoln Lodge near Columbus. The state convention will be held in Cincinnati at the Netherland-Hilton Hotel on Oct. 25, 26 and 27.

Thirteen members and two guests attended. The two guests were Mrs. Claude Smith and Miss Luberta Jenks.

The prizes in canasta were won by Mrs. Sam Wilson and Miss Jenks.

A delicious sandwich course was served by the hostess and co-hostess, Mrs. Robert Goodson.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Junk on Oct. 2.

All-Day Meeting Held By Society

The McNair Presbyterian Missionary Society held an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. John Warnecke, Snow Hill Rd., Wednesday.

The morning session was spent in sewing articles for the missionary box.

A luncheon was served to 12 members and four guests. Guests were Mrs. Howard Wilson, Mrs. Harry Bell, Mrs. Willis McCoy and Dr. Paul Elliott, minister of the church.

Following the luncheon, a business meeting was held, opening with a hymn by the group, followed by a prayer.

Mrs. Warnecke was in charge of the devotions. Her topic was "Such as I Have, I Give."
It was announced that the district meeting is to be held Oct. 4 at the First Presbyterian Church. Reservations are to be in by Sept. 30, and these can be made by contacting Mrs. Robert Hyer.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Warnecke introduced Mrs. Howard Wilson, the Fourth District chairman of the Missionary Society. She conducted a question and answer period.
A hymn and the Mizpah benediction closed the all-day meeting.

Demonstration Club Holds First Meeting

The Planner's and Doers Home Demonstration Club, formerly called the Friendly Dozen, held its first fall meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Glendon Kelley, Wednesday afternoon.

Eight regular members and one new member, Mrs. Walter Hyer were present for the reorganization of the club.

The meeting consisted mostly of reorganizing and discussion of projects for the coming year. Mrs. Kelley, the new president, presided over the meeting.

Tempting refreshments were served by the hostess.

New Officers Conduct Meeting

The Newcomers Club met for the first fall session Thursday night at the Washington Lumber Co. Twenty-one members and 11 visitors attended.

The meeting was conducted by the new officers, Mrs. Raymond Baker, president, Mrs. Donald Cook, secretary, and Mrs. Karl Braun, treasurer.

During the business meeting, the group decided to devote much of its interest to the Children's Home this year. In response to a letter from the Council for Retarded Children, the club voted a contribution to the school it sponsors.

The general committees were named and tentative plans made for the year's activities. Mrs. Florence Barcht, Welcome Wagon hostess, explained her work and the function of the club.

During the social hour the committee composed of the retiring officers, Mrs. Fred Domenico, Mrs. Arthur Vetter, Mrs. William D'Andrea and Mrs. Joe Rush, served refreshments.

Guests, and prospective new members were Mrs. Wayne Rittenhouse, Mrs. Roger Miller, Mrs. Richard Fenton, Mrs. Marvin Meritt, Mrs. Roy Pierce, Jr., Mrs. John O'Rourke, Mrs. Cecil Pennington, Jr., Mrs. Raymond Lockman, Mrs. Thomas Watkins, Mrs. Gerald Rode and Mrs. Allen Willoughby.

More and More U. S. Women Grow Brave, Enter Politics

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON (P)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt once said that women who go into politics have to be willing to "stand up and be shot at."

Most women who have battled their way to the top in this field, long dominated by men, would say the same thing.

Despite this hurdle, Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, has announced there are more women in public offices now than ever before in this country's history. And, she adds, the trend is toward still more.

"We are gratified there are more women serving and the variety of jobs increasing," Miss Adkins said, "but we recognize the need to get more into public service." Combining responsibility at home and holding a public service position doubles the challenge for a woman, she added.

"It is also true that the minute you become a candidate you become a focal point for all kinds of publicity, good and bad," she explained. "I would remind women candidates they are the symbol of the opposition and are going to be the butt of criticism. This is just as true with the men, but women are more sensitive to criticism in general than men."

In "Women in the Public Service," a series of surveys compiled by the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, of which Miss Adkins is also director, some 576,000 women are listed in federal government service as compared with 80,000 in 1923, when official government reports were first issued.

"As far as women appointees in this administration are concerned," Miss Adkins said, "we are gratified we have as many as we have, 134. We are always trying to get more appointments on the federal level. But it is not easy to get women of experience capable of top policy positions who are willing to make the sacrifice to come here."

Many women who have reached the top find they cannot afford to give up the retirement and security benefits accrued in private business, nor to divest themselves of investments as required under the "conflict of interests" law governing federal appointees.

"The glory, fun and excitement of serving their country has to be weighed against the very real consideration of taking care of their needs in an older age," Miss Adkins said.

Presbyterian Laymen Meet in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (P)—Laymen from Ohio gather here tonight for the annual rally of the State Synod Council of Presbyterian Men.

Las Vegas Listed Capital Of Live Entertainment World

By BOB THOMAS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. — The thing that impresses you on re-visiting Las Vegas is the impact of television on the American entertainment scene.
No doubt about it, Las Vegas is the capital of live entertainment in the United States. Here you can see more star performers, more and better shows than in New York and Hollywood combined.
When I first came to this sinning and sunning resort a dozen years ago, the starring entertainers were the night club vets — Sophie Tucker, Joe E. Lewis, Ted Lewis, Harry Richman, and others.
Later the strip hotels went all-out for movie names. The debuts of stars like Van Johnson, Jeff Chandler, Marlene Dietrich and even Zsa Zsa Gabor were considered big events, even though the stars had little to offer as entertainers.
Now it's TV.
Entertainers who have made their names on TV can earn top salaries here. But that's not the important thing.
The remarkable change here is how TV has brought better entertainment. No longer do the hotels string together a series of standard vaudeville acts with a headliner at the close. Because of TV, the public expects slicker, smarter entertainment. And it's getting it.

The Tropicana is offering an original musical, scored by Gordon Jenkins and staged by the best Broadway talent. Starring Vivian Blaine and Dick Shawn, it is as lavish as the most costly TV spectacular.

Victor Borge is presenting his offbeat comedy and onbeat pianistics at the Sahara. He is the only person onstage during the show, a precedent in Las Vegas. Such a thing would have been impossible before Borge attracted a wide and admiring audience on TV.

Jan Pearce, a Metropolitan Opera tenor with TV exposure, headlines the show at the Desert Inn. The hep audience applauds his arias with the fervor of a Met clique.

Milton Berle, Mr. Television himself, offers at El Rancho Vegas a hilarious, if somewhat racist, version of what he used to do on the home screen every Tuesday night. Spike Jones, just off a 20-week run on TV, brought his zany troupe to the Riviera and is knocking 'em dead with a devastating satire of the hit parade.

Barber Interrupts Job To Stab Pal, Then Shoot Him

ORLANDO, Fla. — A barber interrupted a haircut Thursday to stab a friend, returned to his job and then stopped again to shoot to death the man he stabbed, Sheriff Dave Starr reported.

Herman L. Allen, 33, was jailed on an open charge in the slaying of Little Wes Kersey, 24, Stillmore, Ga.

A customer, Harry F. Ryan, told officers that Allen was cutting his hair while engaged in an argument.

Allen suddenly stabbed Kersey in the chest with scissors, then forced him to sit in a chair while he continued to cut Ryan's hair, Starr said.

After a few moments Kersey bolted for the door and Allen pulled a pistol and fired twice, hitting him the second time in the back, the sheriff said.

Ryan was unharmed.

Drunkometer Flunks Test in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY — Police Sgt. Huel Hamm gave a demonstration of a drunkometer before a state legislative committee that was being urged to support a law making drunkometer tests mandatory for drivers suspected of drinking.

"guinea pigs" had downed. Police Chief Roy Bergman said the machine is a mechanical gag get "and no better than the men operating it." Hamm is now a patrolman.

The drunkometer flunked its test. It failed even to come close to showing how much liquor tour backers who attended the same high school in Evanston, Ill., have shown promise in practice so far. They are quarterback Stan Noskin, right halfback Brad Myers and left halfback Darrell Harper.

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football

Michigan State — The reserves have been getting a going over this week. The coaches are slimming down the squad to the Big Ten limit of 38 players.

Minnesota — Injuries may upset Minnesota's plans to use two backfield platoons against Washington in the Gopher's first game Sept. 28.

Indiana — Indiana's two first string backs, Junior Dave Whitell of Shelby, Mich., and sophomore Vic Jones of Clearfield, Pa., are drawing praise from the university's coaches. The team captain this year will be Don Howell, 195-pound guard from Gary, Ind.

Purdue — Coach Jack Mollenkopf said he doubts if Purdue's big tackle, Wayne Farmer, will be ready for the opening game with Notre Dame Sept. 28. The 235-pound junior is recovering from a midsummer back operation.

Iowa — The Iowa varsity took the ball around the 20-year line and required only one play Wednesday to score against the reserves.

Notre Dame — Coach Terry Brennan has ordered secret practice for Notre Dame from today until the season opener against Purdue Sept. 28. Scrimmages were on tap for every day the rest of this week.

Wisconsin — Coach Milt Bruhn dropped his plans to build a 24-man first team setup. Instead he selected his 11 first choices for what could be his starting lineup against Marquette a week from Saturday.

Marquette — Mim Surane, one of Marquette's two lettermen at fullback, has become scholastically ineligible to play football this season.

Pay Television Hit
By Broadcasting Chief

CLEVELAND (AP)—A unified and vocal stand by the radio and television industry against "pay television schemes" is being urged by Harold E. Fellows, president of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters.

Speaking before a regional NAR-TB meeting, Fellows called pay television a "scheme to pre-empt the broadcasting frequencies themselves and to institute a system utterly foreign to the American concept of broadcasting."

Ohio College Gridders Ready

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's collegiate football season, with three games played in last week-end's prologue, gets down to serious business Saturday.

Twenty-six of the state's 34 colleges will see action in a 17-game program. Two of the tilts are in the Ohio Conference, but the others are "just for fun" contests featured by eight frays with out-of-state opponents.

Bowling Green, the state's only unbeaten team in 1956, opens by entertaining Baldwin Wallace in a night fray. Heidelberg and Bluffton, tied for second place in last year's overall race with one loss in nine starts, tangle at Tiffin in another evening contest.

Although a non-conference game, the Heidelberg-Bluffton scrap has heavy interest. The Student Princes won Ohio Conference laurels last year with a 5-1 mark.

Other contests send Ashland to Wooster, Oberlin to Ohio Northern, and Findlay to Central State.

'Mr. Meenzwel' Is Problem For Farmer at Hunting Time

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

For years sportsmen have been lamenting the mysterious minority of hunters who bring the whole teeming multitude of perfect gentlemen into disrepute by dastardly depredations against the landscape and livestock of private landowners.

Since none of these properly righteous fellows would even consider committing any vandalism himself, the minority has remained mysterious even if not minor.

A disarming twist has been given to the whole thing by the bumbling dolt named Mr. Meenzwel.

Consider his effect: Mr. Meenzwel goes to some lengths to strike up an acquaintance with a farmer before the season opens. Assured of permission to hunt, he invites 8 or 10 friends. After all, he tells the farmer, they're nice guys too.

Mr. Meenzwel knows that you shouldn't go clambering around over fences. He himself always takes the long way around, so that he can open gates. The fact that he ought to close them too never occurs to him.

When he has to climb fences, Mr. Meenzwel remembers about gun safety. He puts his weapon across carefully, then climbs not thinking the farmer might have to prop up fences.

And our hero knows about hunting, too. For instance, you should never allow a wounded bird to escape, it's inhumane. Mr. Meenzwel never noticed that the path of hot pursuit generally leads him through a freshly seeded field.

When it comes to shooting livestock, Mr. Meenzwel can say virtuously that he's always been very careful and never hit a domestic animal yet. Even when he shoots a rabbit out of a bush that a cow is leaning against, he never touches the cow. And although it may have occurred to him that his farmer friends have some very athletic cows, he never worries. Yet it is a matter of fact that cows which set spontaneous records in the bovine broad jump rarely set any in milk production.

How about it? Does Mr. Meenzwel sound familiar? Like the guy next door maybe?

Illinois Grid Coach Faces Season with 'Green' Team

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The University of Illinois quarterback job appears wide open only seven days before the Illinois football opener against UCLA. A sophomore this week jumped ahead of two lettermen at the position.

That seems to typify the problems of Ray Eliot, "dean" of Big Ten coaches, as he launches his 16th Illinois campaign.

"Our big worry is lack of depth and the number of green players we have to use," said Eliot.

Never given to optimism, the veteran coach has this description of a team back from a 1-4-2 Big Ten record which tied for seventh last year.

"Our size is ordinary. We're not very fast. Our punting is ordinary and our passing is ordinary. The one redeeming feature of this squad is its excellent spirit."

"We have one experienced end; some experience at tackle; one experienced guard; and center is up for grabs. We're hoping Bill Offenbecher, who moved in mid-way last season, will take over at quarterback."

"We feel we have two Western Conference halfbacks in Capt. Dale Smith and Bobby Mitchell and two capable fullbacks in Ray Nitschke and Jack Delveaux."

Generally, Eliot rates this the greenest squad he has coached since World War II with possible exception of the 1953 club which had to switch from platoon to two-way football. The 1953 team, however, learned its lessons quickly, winding up with a 5-1 Big Ten record to share the title with Michigan State.

Eliot stresses the fact that experience is completely lacking at left guard and there is only one letterman replacement among the halfbacks, that being a 1953 reserve, Don Grothe, back from military service.

"We had to switch two sophomores who were high school quarterbacks, Dejustice Coleman and Doug Wallace, to the No. 3 spots at left and right halfbacks," Eliot said.

Grothe and L. J. Bonner, 1956 squad member.

Running No. 1 quarterback at the moment is a sophomore from Chicago, Bob Hickey, who threw five touchdown passes and scored once himself in a scrimmage last Saturday.

Illini passing attack is expected to improve. Eliot ranks veteran end Rod Hanson and a fleet sophomore, Rich Kreitling, at the other wing, as two of the finest receivers Illinois has had "in a long time."

Although Eliot describes Mitchell and Smith as journeyman Big Ten halfbacks, they could be two of the best rushers in the conference. Mitchell, hurt last season, was a sensational game-breaker late in the 1954 campaign. (Next: Indiana)

Cardinals Face Play and Pray Series at Cincy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals are riding a "play and pray" parlay at Cincinnati before opening what should be a three-game showdown in the National League race against the first-place Milwaukee Braves Monday night.

A sweep of the three-game week end set at Cincinnati is a "must" for the Cards to guarantee they'll still be close to the Braves going into the final week.

The Braves, leading by four with a magic number of six, have won three straight, junking a slump that whittled their 8½-game bulge to 2½. Both the Braves and Cards have nine to play, with any combination of six Milwaukee victories and St. Louis defeats giving the Braves the flag.

The Braves play an afternoon game at Chicago today against the frisky Cubs, with southpaw Warren Spahn making a third pitch for his eighth 29-victory season.

In the American League, the pennant race is over for all practical purposes. The New York Yankees, with a six-game lead and a magic number of four, are at home to Boston tonight while Chicago's second-place White Sox are at Cleveland.

The White Sox prolonged the inevitable in the only game scheduled Thursday with Nellie Fox and Minnie Minoso slamming consecutive home runs in a four-run 13th that defeated Washington 7-3.

The Cardinals, who have split eight games at Cincinnati but led the Redlegs 11-8 for the season, bump into an old southpaw hex tonight with young Don Gross (6-9) starting for the Redlegs. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (8-10) opens for the Cardinals.

Mizell was the Cards' lone southpaw until Thursday, when they bought Bob Kuzava (8-1) from Columbus of the American Assn. and Morrie Martin (14-4) from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League. Both have been around Kuzava is 34, Martin 35.

To make room for the pair, St. Louis released relief veteran Hoyt Wilhelm and sold infielder Eddie Miksis to Baltimore.

The Braves, with hard-hitting Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington ill and slugging Bob Hazle bothered by a sore shoulder, didn't figure to have an easy time with the seventh-place Cubs. The Bruins, with Ernie Banks on a homer hitting binge, have won five in a row and stand 9-10 against Milwaukee.

The Cubs will throw their best, right-handers Bob Rush (6-15), Moe Drabowsky (11-14) and Dick Drott (15-11), against the Braves, who figure to pick Bob Buhl (17-7) and probably Bob Townbridge (7-5) after Spahn (19-10) pitches the opener.

Tony Anthony Losing Backing In Title Bout

LOS ANGELES (P)—Young Tony Anthony, who was just 2 years old when Archie Moore began fighting main events, battles to relieve the crafty but aging boxing master of his light heavyweight title tonight.

Odds on the fight opened in the challenger's favor, then swung to even as Moore's weight problems decreased. By ring time at 9 p.m. EST, the champion probably will be favored.

That's largely because Anthony's ability to take a solid smash remains questionable. He failed to finish four times while campaigning as a middleweight, thus leaving some glass jaw impressions. He hasn't lost, however, since moving into the 175-pound class in late 1955.

The champion, who might be anywhere between 40 and 44, goes after a knockout early while Tony plans to stay away during the early rounds and then close against a foe he expects will be tiring.

Anthony at 22 carries his poundage on a 6-foot-1 frame. He emphasizes speed rather than slugging ability, although he stopped 23 of 35 foes since turning pro after being on Uncle Sam's 1952 Olympic squad.

Tony earned the title shot by knocking out Chuck Spieser in Detroit last April 4 but could only gain a draw against French-Canadian Yvon Durelle June 14.

Cubs Hope To Nip Braves Flag Bid

CHICAGO (P)—The revived Chicago Cubs, eager to resume their role of spoilers, hope to throw a roadblock in front of the Milwaukee Braves' pennant-bound express this weekend.

And then, as if to even things up, the Cubs plan to use their same big pitching gun in the season's windup against the second-place Cardinals at St. Louis Sept. 27, 28 and 29.

Cubs Manager Bob Scheffing doesn't care whether the Braves or Cardinals win the pennant as long as his Cubs beat them both in the waning days of the season.

Ohio State '11' Gets Advice from Visiting Sooners

COLUMBUS (P)—Ohio State's Buckeyes swapped part of their football practice time Thursday for some advice from the coach of the nation's top collegiate football team in 1956.

Oklahoma's powerful Sooners went through an afternoon workout in Buckeye Stadium. They were on their way to Pittsburgh for a game Saturday.

At the end of the day, Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson said his team achieved its great success primarily because the players always maintain high enthusiasm. He said that daily practice is also vital.

"If you can keep up a good practice tempo, you will do well in the game," he said.

Wet or Dry Track, Torpid Looks Like Top 3-Year-Old

DELAWARE, Ohio (P)—It looks as if Torpid, on wet track or day, is America's top 3-year-old pacer for 1957. He appears headed for pacing's triple crown.

The amazing son of Knight Dream-Torresdale captured the 12th annual $73,528.15 Little Brown Jug in straight heats Thursday.

The flashy bay colt, owned by the Sherwood Farm of Irvington, N.J., won the first heat in the 16-horse, two-division classic on a dry track in 2:00.4.

He came back three hours later, after a heavy rain, to snatch the clincher by pulling out of a fifth-place pocket at the head of the stretch and pacing over everything in 2:03.2.

Johnny Simpson, the 38-year-old North Carolinian who has driven Torpid to fame and fortune, said his standout "was just a little bit off" despite his sterling show before 39,000 fans. Torpid picked up $27,205.41.

Now he and Torpid are going after something new — pacing's triple crown. They already have two legs — the $65,000 Futurity at Yonkers and the Little Brown Jug — and they'll make their next start in the $95,000 Messenger Stake at Roosevelt Raceway in New York Oct. 23.

Until then, Torpid gets a rest. He deserves it, after winning $27,205.41 at the rate of about $111,000 a year. Simpson said the Jug conquest boosted Torpid's 1957 purses to $109,517, and his two-year salary to $182,793. He's won 36 of 39 heats.

The first five horses in each division came back for the third and final runoff, and here's how they finished, with their share of the purse:

Torpid (1-1) $27,205.41; Meadow Lands (1-5) $11,029.22; Morris Eden (2-4) $7,720.46; Adios Express (5-2) $6,617.54; Newport Judy (2-9) $5,514.61; Maxine's Dream (3-3) $6,617.52; Great Adios (3-8) $3,308.76; Meadow Rhythm (4-7) $2,205.85; Duke of Wellington (4-10) $2,205.85; Razzle Dazzle (5-6) $1,102.93.

Ohio Fishing Said To Be Only Fair

COLUMBUS (P)—The fishing outlook for the coming weekend is only fair, the Ohio Division of Wildlife reports in its final fishing report of the season.

Most lakes are clear and normal and most streams in the southern half of the state are in fair to good condition. Best fishing in the state will probably be found in the island area of Lake Erie. Perch are being taken around most of the islands. Small mouth bass are being taken in the area.

Some white bass are being taken around Starve Island, Ballast Island and Green Island. Walleyes are being caught around Kelleys Island, Innis Reef and West Reef.

Head, Knee Hurts Top Football List

COLUMBUS (P)—Damage to the head and knee are the most frequent football injuries and the leading cause of disablement among players, an Ohio State University doctor says.

Dr. Richard Patton, assistant physician for the Buckeye football team, said most injuries are just a bump on the head or a bruised knee. Yet these areas are also the most likely to be permanently damaged, he added.

In recent years, Dr. Patton said, nine Ohio State football players have been dropped from the squad because of injuries. Six of the nine were dropped because of head or knee injuries, Dr. Patton said.

On the Japanese island of Kyushu, it is necessary for miners to pump out 53 tons of water for every ton of coal brought up.

4 Former Lions Now on Quaker Grid Squad

Two former Lions of Washington C. H. High School probably will start in the opening game in the Wilmington College football season Saturday night when the Quakers meet the Centre College team at Danville, Ky.

Roger Mickle is slated to get the call for left halfback and Jim Cunningham has been tabbed for center.

Two other former Lions are on the Quaker squad, and probably will see plenty of action before the season is over. They are Russ Whited, a tackle, and Lyle Self, an end.

Whited, who entered college after a hitch in the Army, is returning to football after a lapse of several years and is being counted on to bolster the defensive line. He is a former commander of the American Legion post here.

Self, who won his Wilmington College letter last year, is a junior, but did not report for football at the start of practice. He is expected to be back at his old post before the season is far advanced.

Mickle won his letter last year, but Cunningham will be playing as a varsity regular for the first time.

One of their team mates is a old foe of high school days, Howard Hitzler, a former Greenfield Tiger, will probably be at tackle for the kickoff Saturday night.

Next Saturday, the Quakers will go to Ohio Northern University at Ada for their first Mid-Ohio League game.

The Quakers have opened their season with Centre College for the last four years and have lost all of them. This year, however, Wilmington College will field a team leaded with veterans: Eighteen of the 26-player squad saw action last year and 13 won their varsity letters.

Bear '11' Favored To Trounce Browns

CHICAGO (P)—The Chicago Bears are favored by seven points to win their fourth straight exhibition game when they meet the Cleveland Browns here tonight.

Coach Paul Brown, who doesn't take exhibition games too seriously, may be more interested in watching his quarterbacks perform than in winning.

"We'll start Tommy O'Connell," said Brown, "but I'd like to have another look at all the passers."

That means Milt Plum and John Borton will get into the game, as well as Jim Haluska, who spent last season with the Bears.

Tebbetts to Send His Lefthanders Against Cardinals

CINCINNATI (P)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts says he plans to lead with his lefthanders in the first two of three important games with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Tebbetts nominated Don Gross to start tonight's game.

Southpaw Joe Nuxhall is earmarked for Saturday afternoon and Brooks Lawrence is booked for Sunday.

The importance of the series to both teams is plain. A sweep by Cincinnati would virtually scotch the chances of second place St. Louis to catch league-leading Milwaukee's Braves.

A three-game streak by the Cards would well-nigh obliterate Redleg possibilities of annexing the league's third place.

Charges Filed In Teen-Age Drink Accident

Hearing Tuesday
For Proprietor
Of Ranch House

Two charges of serving intoxicants to a minor have been filed against Janet Paul, proprietor of the Ranch House restaurant, 750 W. Elm St., Prosecutor Rollo Marchant disclosed Friday.

Hearing has been set for Tuesday morning in Municipal Court, Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson, who filed the charges, said they result from related incidents the evening of Sept. 12, when two Washington C. H. teenagers were arrested for intoxication.

CITY POLICE arrested a 17-year-old boy on W. Elm St. about 8 p. m. on that day and Deputy Thompson arrested a 16-year-old at the Ranch House a few minutes later. Deputy Thompson said that, if he wins convictions on the double charge in Municipal Court, he will file a request with the Ohio Board of Liquor Control for suspension of the Ranch House beer permit.

A charge filed by Thompson with the liquor board earlier this year resulted in a 21-day suspension for the Ranch House for serving intoxicants to minors.

40-Hour Rites Planned at St. Colman's

Forty Hours' Devotion, commemorating the 40 hours the Body of Jesus was in the sepulchre, will start at St. Colman's Catholic Church here with 11 a. m. mass Sunday and continue until Tuesday evening devotions, Father Richard J. Connelly, pastor, said.

Begun in Milan in 1534, the devotion includes special indulgences initiated by Pope Clement VIII. Father George Fulcher from St. Joseph Cathedral, Columbus, will speak at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, and Monsignor Harry S. Connelly, a brother of Father Connelly, from the same church will speak at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Speaker at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday will be Father James Krause, director of music for the Diocese of Columbus.

ALL ALTAR BOYS will join in a Sunday morning procession. Altar boys and all grade school children in the church will take part in a procession Tuesday evening.

Members of the Monsignor Buckley order of General Assembly, fourth degree Knights of Columbus from Springfield, will also take part in the Tuesday procession.

Priests from throughout the area who will take part in the closing exercise Tuesday include Monsignor Patrick Kilgallen and Fathers Anthony Becker, James Geiger, James Conney, Charles Halusha and Robert Harwick of Columbus, Father William Connor of the Boys' Industrial School in Lancaster, Father Roland T. Wines of Lancaster, Father Edward F. Lauer of Greenfield and Father Ferdinand Fylus of Jamestown.

The reckless driving trial of Darrel Williams, 49, of 1125 N. North St., accused of driving the auto that hit a 6-year-old boy on O. Road Ave. Aug. 16, has been continued until next Friday by Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court.

Williams, represented by an attorney, pleaded not guilty to the charge Friday.

The child, Terry Davis, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, 1025 Willard St., was hospitalized for about a month after the accident. Continuation of the hearing, after an hour-long session this Friday, was requested by the prosecution.

Burglars Get $5 At Candy Factory

About $5 in change was taken from a petty cash box at Art's Candy Manufacturing Co., 702 Millwood Ave., in a burglary Thursday night.

Police said a back screen had been cut some time after closing time at 5:30 p. m., and the cash taken from a box under a counter.

Employees discovered the break-in when they came to work at 7 a. m. Friday, Mrs. Paul Arthur, wife of the proprietor, said.

Ohio Bell Dispute

contract with increase ranging from $2.50 to $5. The union says the 15-month pact is out, that it insists on a one-year contract, and that the one-year offer by Ohio Bell is inadequate.

In addition to general wage increases, the union sought certain adjustments of scales to reduce the amount of geographical differentials, longer rest periods, a shorter work day for operators, and fringe benefits, including pension and hospitalization gains.

In talks thus far, little bargaining was done on issues other than the general pay increase.

Fayette Grange Officers Elected

Frank Dill Chosen
For New Master

Frank Dill will be the new master of Fayette Grange.

He and the officers who will guide the Grange through the coming year were elected at Thursday night's meet in the hall on W. Elm St.

Chosen to serve with him were Walter Carman, overseer; Mrs. Emma Cunningham, lecturer; Robert Haines, steward; Osman King, assistant steward; Mrs. Jane Dill, chaplain; Mrs. Lucille Griffith, treasurer; Mrs. Doris Diffendal, secretary; Gene Juillerat, gatekeeper; Miss Linda Haines, Ceres; Miss Carolyn Dill, Pomona; Miss Donna Dill, Flora, and Miss Carol King, lady assistant steward.

Roy Coil was elected to the executive committee.

Because most of the meeting was devoted to the election, other business of the session conducted by the retiring master, Oaman King, was held to a minimum and no program of entertainment was planned.

However, Paul Hurt Jr. was elected to membership and Mrs. Madge Winter made a report on the dance at the community park sponsored by the Grange in August.

Entire New Holland Board Interested in Merger Plan

All five members of the New Holland District Board of Education are interested in the possibilities of a merger of the New Holland district with Fayette County's Miami Trace district, Lowell Marvin, president of the New Holland board, told a Record-Herald representative Friday.

Marvin's comment came after George McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway County schools, was quoted in the Circleville Herald as saying that the New Holland board is not officially behind a move to transfer New Holland district territory to Miami Trace.

"It's too bad for them to become involved in the Fayette County School controversy. It should be avoided like the plague."

"Wise persons of New Holland will protect the district's bargaining power as regards future consolidation moves in Pickaway County. To split the district further would weaken the district. It is much more logical to work with the Pickaway County Board of Education."

But the board president pointed out that the New Holland district feels a close kinship with Fayette County in which 70 per cent of the district's area is located. At the same time Marvin pointed out that the district is drawn to Fayette

County because of the overall tax picture.

PETITIONS requesting the transfer probably will be circulated in the New Holland district next week. Seventy-five percent of the eligible voters must sign before the proposal can start through channels.

Ten residents of the New Holland district attended a regular meeting of the Miami Trace board Wednesday night to consider various aspects of a possible merger.

In the group were three New Holland board members.

The Miami Trace board has no powers with respect to territory transfers of this kind. Ultimate decision for acceptance of the New Holland district would rest with the Fayette County Board of Education.

THE PTA officers who will be at the meeting in their official capacities for the first time are Mrs. Richard Whited, president; Mrs. Robert Harper, vice president; Mrs. Charles DeWitt, secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Blair, treasurer; Mrs. Thurman Coulter, news reporter, and Mrs. Richard Keller, chairman of room mothers. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

The teachers will be introduced either by Principal Hugh Rea or Mrs. Whited.

The officers are to serve refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

More than 300,000 eye accidents occur every year in American industries, says the Better Vision institute.

Jeffersonville PTC Group Approves Plans for New Year

Plans for a dinner Oct. 20 at the school were approved Thursday night when the Jeffersonville Parent-Teacher Committee held its first meeting.

The dinner is one of a number of projects outlined for the new year by Eugene Avey, chairman of the projects committee whose report was approved by the organization.

Also approved was a report by Russell Hall, chairman of the program committee. A talent show will be presented at the next meeting.

MRS. OWEN PRICE, the new president of the PTC group, opened the session after a program of organ music presented by Karl Kay.

An electric clock was presented to Hall, last year's president, in recognition of his services to the organization.

Following the introduction of new teachers, Principal Harry Phillips spoke briefly on the desirability of a better understanding among parents and teachers.

REFRESHMENTS were served.

DAMAGE ONLY SLIGHT IN COURT ST. MISHAP

Damage was slight in an auto accident late Thursday morning on W. Court St. just west of Main.

Police said an auto driven by Fred Miles, 22, of 1012 Willard St., was hit in the rear by a car driven by John Darl Elcessor, 16, of 116 Forest St. The rear bumper and end panel of Miles' car were damaged.

How do we read

According to some of our customers, prescriptions aren't written—they're doodles. Yet your pharmacist looks at the cryptic scribbles and calmly reaches for a bottle. The right bottle. Prescriptions are written in a special international language known to physicians and pharmacists... a kind of universal, standardized shorthand that's grammar- and penmanship-proof. It exists so any registered pharmacist anywhere can fill your prescription accurately. That's how we're always able to give you just the drug your physician prescribes, and why the directions are always correct. We are pleased to serve you whenever prescription medication is required.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Police today ordered the arrest of Kadim Jaffar, Baghdad lawyer who led 130 Iraqis to the International Youth Festival at Moscow.

He will be charged with taking part in illegal Communist activities. He is believed to be in Syria. Sixteen members of the Iraq group who have returned home have been arrested.

THE CHILlicothe Veterans Administration Hospital is looking for volunteers to train as Gray Ladies in the hospital assistant's orientation program, Sept. 24, Oct. 1 and Oct. 8.

The 14 Washington C. H. Gray Ladies, who have given a total of more than 2,000 hours of work to the VA hospital, spend an average of two days a month there to fulfill their agreements under the program.

Gray Ladies help with recreational programs give service in the craft shops, do typing and secretarial chores, and read and write letters for closed ward patients.

Willingness, sincerity, a business like approach to volunteer work, responsibility, dependability, tact, patience, congeniality, humility and a sense of humor are among the basic qualifications necessary.

PEOPLE with specialized skills in crafts, music, recreational activities or secretarial work are especially welcome.

Prospective volunteers are welcome to visit the hospital prior to orientation. Miss Eveline Williams, director of volunteer activities, is coordinating the training program.

Mrs. William C. Bailey is chairman of the program here, and Mrs. J. E. Peters is vice chairman. Ten Washington C. H. volunteers have been with the program about a year, and four others about six months.

The University of Nebraska keeping up with the times, recently published a book called "Service Station Management."
